SENSATIONAL DEATH

Great Efforts to Recover the Body of a Capitalist.

ALMOST A PANIC ON A BRIDGE

Many Bruised and Injured, But None Killed.

The Turbulent Willamette Still Doing Damage in Oregon—Changes in the American Naval Squadron and Officers Lord and Lady Aberdeen Leave for Home.

St. Paul, Minn., May 22.—The booming of cannon on the upper levee sent 10,000 people to that locality in about ten minutes this afternoon. The cause of the commotion was the search for the body of Charles S. Rogers, president of the St. Paul Cordage Company, who made a terrible leap to death on Friday afternoon. For two hours, six boats, well-manned, dragged the river all the way from High Bridge to Raspberry Island. This method failing, cannon were brought up and fired over the water, and later dozens of dynamite cartridges were exploded in the water. The booming of the cartridges and cannon, and the splashes of the water as it was thrown 50 feet high, caused the crowds to increase to enormous proportions. A few minutes before 5 o'clock somebody shouted, "they've got him," whereupon the great crowd upon the bridge surged to the east side, almost throwing the bridge off its piers. Instantly there was a panic, caused by the swaying of the bridge, and hundreds of people on the structure hurried to dry land with the greatest possible speed. A good many people were bruised, but nobody was seriously injured. Mayor Wright this evening offered a reward of $500 for the recovery of the body and the river will be constantly patrolled from St. Paul to Hastings until the remains of the distinguished capitalist are found. The rumor that Mr. Rogers drew $10,000 from one of the leading banks just before taking his awful leap proves to be unfounded.

The Swollen Willamette.

Portland, May 22.—The Willamette river at this city now stands 20 feet above low water mark. All the lower docks and cellars along the water front are submerged, and merchants have moved their goods out. Owing to the cool weather the river is rising slowly, and should warm weather set in it is probable that in a few days the highest water ever known here would result, as there is said to be an unusual amount of snow in the mountains. The rise in the Willamette is due to backwater from the Columbia. All the tributaries of the upper Columbia river are rising rapidly and, many of them have already overflowed their banks, causing much damage.

American Naval Changes.

Washington, May 22.—Secretary Herbert to-day signed orders making a number of important naval changes. Admiral Gherardi was ordered to haul down his flag on the Philadelphia on May 31st and assume command of the Brooklyn navy yard. On the same day Admiral Walker will lower his flag on the Chicago and go on a leave of absence for three months. Admiral Beaham will transfer his flag from the Newark to the San Francisco and assume command of the North Atlantic squadron. Commodore Erben, on being relieved of the command of the New York navy yard by Admiral Gherardi, will raise his flag on the Chicago and prepare to go to the European station, which he will command. The Philadelphia will go to the Pacific in the place of the San Francisco, which will become flagship of the North Atlantic squadron. No vessels or commandant have yet been selected for the South Atlantic. The Charleston will go to the Pacific, the Baltimore will go to an Asiatic station, leaving the San Francisco and the Miantonomoh, Atlanta, Kearsarge and Vesuvius to constitute a home squadron. The command of the South Atlantic station will be given to some officer now on shore duty, and it is believed that Admiral Walker will be given command of the Mare Island yard when his leave of absence expires.

The Aberdeens Go Home.

New York, May 22.—Lord and Lady Aberdeen sailed for England to-day. They will return to Canada in August, and after Lord Aberdeen has been formally installed as governor-general of the Dominion they will pay a second visit to Chicago and remain some time attending the exhibit at the Irish village.

The Ball to the Infanta.

New York, May 22.—All the arrangements have been completed for the grand ball to be given to-night at Madison Square assembly room in honor of Infanta Eulalie of Spain. The rooms have been magnificently decorated with silk and banners, growing flowers, palms and exotics. According to the programme the Infanta herself will not dance. She will witness the festivities from a private box and afterwards take supper with a few of the lady members of the committee. Many of the "four hundred" are out of town, but among the patronesses of the function, and whose presence is looked for, are Mrs. Paren Stevens, Mrs. Bayard Cutting, Mrs. William Jay, Mrs. J. J. Astor and Mrs. Charles A. Post. The ball will be in charge of a special committee of the Circle Colon Cervantes, with L. Antonio Cuyas as chairman. Over 2,000 tickets have been disposed of at the uniform figure of $15 each, great care having been taken regarding the social standing of the subscribers.

Congress of Newspaper Men.

Chicago, May 22.—The second of the series of World's Fair congresses opened to-day in the Art Palace on the Lake Front. It is that of the press of the world, and the event has brought together the most polyglot gathering of the men who mould and direct public opinion that has ever been seen. In the crowd that flocked through the spacious corridors into the Hall of Columbus this morning there were publishers and editors from England, France, Germany, Austria, Italy, Sweden, Russia, China, Japan, Australia, Switzerland, Turkey and Greece. The newspaper men of the United States turned out in force, including the delegates to the annual convention of the National League of Press Clubs, to the National Editorial Association, and to the American Newspaper Publishers' Association. The women were also largely represented, the committee of arrangements having wisely decided not to make any distinction between men and women, but to invite both sexes to take part in the general congress. Four morning sessions, however, will be conducted exclusively by women, for the discussion of papers and topics relating to the practical side of the newspaper work of women. To-day's session was devoted to addresses of welcome, among the speakers being J. W. Scott, M. P. Handy and Mrs. A. V. H. Wakeman. A number of the foreign delegates were introduced and made appropriate responses.

THE AMERICAN YACHTS HERE.

The Fleet is a Fine One and a Great Credit to the Sound Cities.

Despite the murkiness of opening day with its steady downpour of rain, James Bay presented a very pretty picture this morning to the Victorian who happened to cross the bridge or caught a glimpse of it from the surrounding districts. It was dotted all over with the yachts of the Puget Sound fleets, and what impressed everybody was the fine appearance of the boats. Everywhere there was a free display of bunting from club pennants to the stars and stripes. The crews were about early and looked decidedly "natty" in their jaunty blue caps and white and blue "sweaters." The first yacht to reach port was the Cruiser of Anacortes, which established a record in the run. She came 40 miles in 5 hours and 10 minutes. She was not in the race but came directly from Anacortes. The vessels kept coming in all evening and this morning. Which yacht has won the sweepstakes race from Port Townsend is uncertain, and the prophets among the visitors are doing a lot of talking. The honor is claimed by both the Gracie Felitz, of Seattle, and the Francel. The flag of each was alternately flying over the club house of the Anglo-American club this morning. The finish of the race was in the dark at 3 o'clock this morning, and one remained in the outer harbor, her crew thinking the Pedro was the stake, while the other came inside. The Victorians are keeping hands off in the matter, even as to advice, and the matter will be straightened among the visitors. The yachts are all ready for the sport to-morrow. It is believed that the visitors will win, which one it is hard to say. Much will depend on the weather. The vessels here, with their crews, are as follows: Sloop Xora, Seattle, Captain G. V. Johnson, Henry Hensil, pilot, E. L. Ruddy, cook. J. W. Wall, C. E. Cawley, C. P. Blanchard, Carl Siebrand, G. W. Amsden, F. W. Pearl, G. A. Carpentar, Tacoma Ledger; sloop Margery, Seattle, Captain George H. Heilbron, E. A. Strout, Bernard Pelly, W. A. Peters, Edwin Hughes; schooner Rainier, Seattle, Captain W. C. Heilbron, Commodore Fred E. Sander, Seattle Yacht club; D. G. Inverarity, George J. Stoneman, Paul D'Heirry, F. D. Cleaves, W. H. Carroll, Fred Stinson; sloop Gracie Felitz, Seattle, Captain A. N. Towle, A. W. Simonson, D. A. Waldo, J. R. Park, Joseph Brown, John Dunlap, John Allen, James Newman; schooner Pilgrim, of Seattle, Captain Sam Hoyt, George James, A. Loveland and C. A. Hoyt; cutter Francel, Port Townsend, Admiral John Barneson, Syd Maynard, J. S. Mason, E. B. Reynolds, R. Bailey, R. McQuarries, W. McGrath and C. J. Andrews; Shadow, Port Townsend, Captain Frank Parrott; Hornet, Whatcom, Captains Simpson and Lew Mayhew; Wanda, Fairhaven, Captain McKay; Myth, Fairhaven, Captain E. B. Leaming; Cruiser, Anacortes, Commodore, J. P. Nelson, G. H. Anderson, K. Kash, Will C. Harmon, J. March.

The yachts Edna M. and American, of Seattle, will be here in the morning in tow of the steamer Island Belle, which has been chartered to bring a party of yachtsmen and their friends over to see the race. The steamer Schome is also coming from Bellingham Bay with an excursion to see the yacht race. The entries will close at 8 o'clock this evening, and the preliminaries of measuring are going on this afternoon. The official session of the International Yachting Association will be held after the race. The committee has issued the following statement as to the course:

Course for local sailing races, Queen's birthday celebration, 1893. Class A, 30 feet and over; class B, 20 to 30 feet; class C, under 20 feet, corrected measurement. Tuesday, May 23, start at 10 a. m. Classes A and B will sail the following course: Starting from Finlayson Point, off Beacon Hill, crossing an imaginary line drawn from the point to the buoy anchored off the point, thence southwesterly to buoy anchored off Albert Head, leaving buoy on port (or left hand) side, thence easterly to a buoy anchored off west side of Trial Island, leaving on port (or left hand) side, from thence back to starting point, crossing an imaginary line. Class C start same as classes A and B, rounding Albert Head buoy, leaving it on port (or left hand) side, thence back to starting point, crossing the imaginary line, leaving the buoy on starboard side. Boats will be started as follows: Five minutes before starting a preparatory gun will be fired; five minutes later the gun starting class A will be fired; five minutes after a gun will be fired starting class B; five minutes later a gun will be fired starting class C. Each boat will be required to carry a printed number to be supplied by the committee of the yacht club.

The Myth came in from Oak Bay this morning during the gale and nearly lost a man. Mr. G. A. Brandon fell overboard and the crew had a hard time picking him up. He was thoroughly benumbed by the cold water when picked up. The Hornet picked up the Myth's boat, which got adrift.

The proposition has been advanced to make a rule barring the shifting of ballast in the Victoria race. In that event five of the visitors would not start. They look upon it as unjust, and the Victoria people would probably object very strongly if any conditions that are either unfair or unexpected are imposed. The matter will most likely be left alone.

Yachtsmen Ahoy!

The meeting of the International Northwestern Yachting association will be held this evening at 8 o'clock at the rooms of the Anglo-American club, Adelphi building, corner of Yates and Government streets. All are expected to attend.

IT MAY BE DECISIVE

Battle Progressing in Nicaragua Which May be Final.

REVOLUTIONISTS ARE ENTHUSIASTIC

Martial Law Declared Throughout the Country.

A Majority of the Deputies and Senators Refuse to Assemble at the Call of President Sacaza—He Appeals to His Neighbors for Assistance—A Complicated Situation.

Granada, Nicaragua, May 22.—What will probably be the decisive battle of the revolution against the authority of President Sacaza, has been opened after days spent in preparation. The government troops began their advance this morning at 9 o'clock. Their purpose was to attack the revolutionists at Barranca, near Masaga. As the government forces advanced the battle was begun by the revolutionists, whose artillery opened a vigorous fire upon the attacking columns of the enemy. The revolutionists are enthusiastic. They believe the engagement now in progress will result favorably for their cause, and hope it will be the decisive battle of the movement to overthrow Sacaza. Large crowds are gathered in the streets awaiting news of the battle, which will be brought from the front by messengers.

Managua, Nicaragua, May 22.—President Sacaza declared himself dictator late on Saturday night and proclaimed martial law throughout the entire province. By his act the constitutional guarantees are suspended and the country is virtually under a one-man-rule. Sacaza has issued a proclamation convening the Nicaraguan congress in extraordinary session in order to devise means for the purpose of quelling the insurrection. The session is convoked for to-day. Thus far only 25 of the senators and deputies have favorably responded to the call. Twenty-six members have flatly refused, boldly avowing that their sympathies are with the revolutionists.

A second proclamation appeals to the neighboring republics for assistance. Almost simultaneously with the issuance of these two proclamations, the president secretly dispatched a commission of three to Corinto, the Pacific coast port of Nicaragua, there to await the departure of the first Pacific mail steamer for Guatemala, whither they go to endeavor to obtain aid of that government. Another commission has also been sent by the president to San Salvador to obtain assistance of that republic.

Wreck of a Warship.

Port Said, May 22.—The Brazilian war ship, Alminte Barossa, was wrecked near Gharch, a port on the coast of Middle Egypt, in the Gulf of Aden. The vessel is a total wreck.

Burned at Midnight.

St. Louis, May 22.—Fire at midnight destroyed $200,000 worth of property and caused the loss of human life. A few minutes before 12 an alarm was sent from the corner of Canning avenue and Locust street. The fire was of incendiary origin. The property was a three-story brick block occupied by the C. M. Crumm livery. Over 150 horses were burned to a crisp and all the buggies and other vehicles, harness, etc., were destroyed. On the second floor James Quinn, foreman, his wife and eight children slept. All had narrow escapes except Eddie, a boy aged 7, who was fatally burned before he could be rescued. Crumm's insurance is $27,000.

GARNET WILL GO NORTH.

Ordered to Replace the Champion in the Behring Sea Patrol.

Capt. Hughes-Hallett of H.M.S. Garnet received a cablegram yesterday from Admiral Stephenson, who is at Coquimbo in his flagship, H.M.S. Royal Arthur, directing him to go to Behring Sea and serve in the patrol for the summer in the protected waters. She will take the place of H.M.S. Champion, which could not get into the graving dock to be cleaned and repaired for the trip, the Romolus being in the dock. The Garnet, with the Nymphe, will therefore act as the patrol. The date of their departure has not yet been fixed upon.

THROUGH TRAFFIC.

The C. P. R. Now Open all the Way—The Tacora Sails for Portland.

Vancouver, May 22.—The press excursionists left for home yesterday.

All delayed mails since Tuesday last arrived together yesterday, and now the line is opened through without a break east of Rat Portage.

The Burrard Inlet Rowing club finds itself unable to send a crew to Victoria regatta on the 24th.

Rain early this morning considerably spoiled the track at the race course, and though the weather is fine now, it is doubtful whether the race meeting can be held though a number of horses are in. The jockey club meets this afternoon to decide.

The barkentine Tacora, chartered to take Chinamen to Portland, but did not owing to disagreement, was towed out this morning.

AFTER MANY DAYS.

Brakesman Pushett's Body Found—Cameron's Miserable Death.

New Westminster, May 22.—The body of John Pushett, the brakesman drowned at the Sea Bird Bluff accident, was found opposite this city yesterday. The verdict of the coroner's jury this morning was "accidental death."

The body found in a barn at Port Leeds turns out to be that of Cameron, an old man from Vancouver. He was on his way back from Seattle and was taken ill, went into the barn and died there of starvation.

Fire last night gutted James Cunningham's cottage on Cornwall street. The building was valued at about $1,500. The firemen with difficulty saved Mr. Hill's residence next door.

Mr. W. H. Dickson, law student with Mr. E. M. N. Woods, barrister, was married this morning to Miss K. Walker, sister of ex-Ald. W. J. Walker. They will spend the honeymoon in Victoria.

There was a small fire in Mission Hotel on Saturday; little damage was done.

MINERS' FEDERATION.

Great Meeting of Delegates From States and Territories.

Butte, Mon., May 20.—For five days past delegates from the miners' unions of Montana, Utah, Idaho, Nevada, South Dakota and Colorado, have been in session in this city. The purpose of the meeting was to organize the Western Federation of Miners, which was harmoniously accomplished. The business of the delegates was transacted behind closed doors. Nearly 50,000 miners are represented in this federation, and it now takes rank as one of the strongest labor organizations in the country. Owing to the fact that a standard scale of wages for each locality could not be established, it was decided to allow each union to fix its own scale for its locality, and this scale will be upheld by every union member.

Salt Lake was selected as the place for holding the next annual meeting, in May, 1894. John W. Gilligan, of Butte, was elected president; T. Maulin, of Butte, secretary; John McLeod, of South Dakota, chairman of the executive board. The federation adopted resolutions urging free silver coinage and opposing the repeal of the Sherman silver purchase act; opposing imported contract labor and the importation of armed forces in cases of strikes; appealing to workingmen not to join local state militia organizations; demanding the restoration of the mineral lands in the mining states to the people; condemning the Russian extradition treaty; approving heartily of the Supreme Court ruling in the Geary exclusion act, and demanding the enforcement of the law, and demanding the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people.

The miners within the federation will carry travelling cards and shall be entitled to the same benefits as in their own unions. A per capita tax of $1 a year shall be paid to support the federation.

GENERAL DISPATCHES.

News in Brief From Various Parts of the World.

Rome, May 20.—The resignation of the ministers is the result of a cabinet intrigue. It is asserted that Premier Geoleti was desirous of getting rid of the minister of justice and he therefore allowed the credit for the ministry of justice to be rejected. The vote by which the credit was rejected was 138 to 133. A number of ministerialists were absent when the vote was taken. It is supposed that Signor Geoleti aims to give a portfolio to a senator able to secure a small majority in the senate for the government's pension project.

Vienna, May 20.—Eighty members of the Anglo-American colony gave a farewell dinner at the Hotel Bristol this evening to Frederick Grant, the retiring United States minister. A letter from Mr. Grant expressing gratitude for the kindness shown during his sojourn in Vienna, was read and Grant replied at length to a toast proposed to his health.

St. Petersburg, May 20.—Reports regarding the winter wheat crop in Russia show that it is excellent in 124 districts, good in 30 and bad in 10. The spring wheat crop in the southern provinces is generally promising.

Paris, May 20.—The champion long-distance walker, Lardeau, will challenge two competitors to walk to Chicago by way of Siberia, the ice fields and Alaska, the winner to receive 20,000 francs.

Rome, May 20.—The Fanfulla announces that Italy and the United States have agreed that the American legation in Rome and the Italian legation in Washington City shall be raised to the rank of embassy.

Paris, May 20.—A wine merchant named Coupe suddenly became insane to-day and shot his wife, son and eldest daughter dead. He then attempted to commit suicide. Jealousy of his wife was the cause.

Tacoma, May 20.—The city council, by a vote of eight to five, to-night defeated the ordinance cutting down the police force to 45 men and reducing the police expenses $14,200. The ordinance was discussed for two hours. Chief Lillis estimated the expense of running the fire department for the next year at $80,787, or $13,000 more than the past year.

Paris, May 20.—Gen. Dodds, who recently returned from Dahomey, was received at the Palais d'Elysee to-day by President Carnot. The fact that the reception was held in the apartments of the palace, coupled with the general's appearance in plain clothes at the request of the president, emphasized the president's resolve not to allow Gen. Dodds to develop into another Boulanger.

DANUBE IN QUARANTINE.

A Death on Board Said to Have Been Caused by Smallpox.

Portland, May 20.—The criticism of the customs officials for delay in beginning the examination of the 504 Chinese who arrived here on the British steamer Danube yesterday morning from Victoria was answered this morning by the announcement that one of the Chinese passengers had died from smallpox. The Danube brought with her clean bills of health from Victoria, Vancouver and Astoria. The Astoria bill of health states that one Chinaman who was sick was suffering from malarial fever, and it was this Chinaman who died this morning. The city physician boarded the steamer as soon as the death of the Chinaman was made known, and he gave it as his opinion that death was due to smallpox. H examined the remainder of the Chinese, but found no further evidence of the contagion. Upon his report, the city board of health ordered the Danube placed in quarantine and disinfected, also the vaccination of the Chinese and crew.

American Dunkards Meeting.

Muncie, Ind., May 20.—The Dunkards of the United States are closing in on Muncie and not less than 25,000 of them will attend the meeting to-morrow. The initial meeting began at noon to-day when an address was made by Rev. J. S. Florey, of California. Regular services will be held three times a day in the tabernacle, which is capable of holding 6000 people. A dining room capable of seating 1000 persons has been erected, besides numerous lunch stands and other buildings to care for the brethren. Thirty head of fine cattle and 5000 loaves of bread have been provided, together with other comforts in proportion.

There Must be Just Cause.

Washington City, May 20.—Judge Bradley, in the circuit court of the District of Columbia this afternoon, in the case of Pulaski, discharged the letter carrier and rendered an important decision in the matter of the enforcement of the civil service laws, holding that an employee of the government, appointed under any administration subject to such laws, cannot be dismissed from the service without just and sufficient cause, and the courts have a right to pass upon the sufficiency of the cause.

CANADIAN DISPATCHES.

The News of Eastern Canada in Short Paragraphs.

Lady Macpherson is seriously ill at San Remo, Italy.

The World's Fair dog show has been postponed until September 20th and 23rd.

A. Gurnett & Brothers, grocers and wine merchants, Woodstock, have assigned with liabilities of $14,500. The assets amount to only $1600.

Horatio F. Forest, chief engineer of the Great Northwest Central Railway Company, has been appointed by the court receiver and manager of the road, and has assumed control.

Edward Burns and John Ryan, convicted of "holding up" David Kennedy and robbing him of a watch and $20 in Toronto, have been sentenced to one year's imprisonment each.

Messrs. Taillon, Boivin and Pagnuelo entered appearance in the court at Montreal on behalf of their client, Archbishop Fabre, who is defendant in a suit brought by the Canada Revue Publishing Company for $50,000.

Three very old people have died in Prince Edward Island within the past few days—Mrs. Young, of Summerside, reported to be between 105 and 112 years of age; Murdoch McKinnon, of Grand river, in his 91st year, and Mrs. Brown, of Summerside, in her 101st year.

A new steamship company, under the patronage of the Belgian government, has been established to run a fortnightly service between Antwerp and Montreal. The company will be known as the Columbia line, and has five steamers. The first vessel, the Louisiana, 2000 tons, arrived in Montreal the other day.

The Dominion Government has taken an appeal from the recent judgment of the Superior Court of Quebec, dismissing the action of the Minister of Justice to recover from Andre Senecal, formerly superintendent of the printing bureau, the amount alleged to be received by him as commission on government contracts.

There is a good deal of grumbling among Toronto taxpayers over the large increase in taxation, which will this year exceed 18 mills, or four mills more than last year. No improvement has been made in the water supply for several years, and it is probably worse now than it has ever been, leaking in the conduit across the bay still making it necessary for the citizens to boil all their drinking water.

The children's bill, introduced by Hon. Mr. Gibson, has passed its third reading in the Ontario legislature. One of the clauses of the bill provides that, with the consent of the municipalities, the "Curfew Bell shall be rung at 9 o'clock at night as a signal for children to go home." This clause Mr. Whitney (Dundas) attacked as being illiberal, unchristian and singularly out of place in a civilized community, and he demanded a division on it, which, on being taken, resulted in a ministerial majority of 40.

The Canadian Pacific railway and the Manitoba Government have both maintained headquarters at Moncton for the Maritime provinces for over a year, the aim being diversion of immigration to the Northwest. On the first of June both agencies will close in Moncton. The Manitoba Government has abandoned the Maritime province field altogether. The Canadian Pacific will nominally maintain headquarters at St. John. It is no secret that opposition by the local press to the organized immigration efforts in these provinces has crushed the movement, and the field is now virtually to be abandoned.

Shot His Enemy.

Danville, Ind., May 20.—Coley Brown, president of the Lebanon National Gas Company, shot Samuel Wesner, one of the most prominent lawyers in Indiana, at noon to-day, and Wesner died almost instantly. The shooting occurred in the court room, directly in front of the judge's desk. For several days a suit of Martin Hobe against the Lebanon Gas Company for damages had been on trial and was bitterly contested on both sides. The argument had been completed, the court had adjourned and Wesner was laughing and talking about Brown's evidence at the trial. Brown appeared and one word led to another until he drew a revolver and fired two shots. Wesner pulled a long dagger and advanced towards Brown, but fell from loss of blood and died in a few moments. Brown was taken to jail and was not disposed to talk. He was badly cut across the palm of the hand by the dagger which Wesner used. The first ball fired struck Wesner in the left forearm, and the second struck near the breastbone, and ranging downward, shaving under the skin, lodged near the base of the spinal column.

Damaged by a Hurricane.

Pittsburg, May 20.—A terrific rain and hail storm, accompanied by high winds and vivid lightning, passed over a portion of Eastern Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio this afternoon, doing great damage. The storm broke over Pittsburg a few minutes after four o'clock and raged for an hour, striking terror to the hearts of timid people and ruining $1,000,000 worth of property. Windows were broken all over the city, and every greenhouse suffered loss ranging from $500 to $2000. Crops and fruit trees were ruined. Phillips' conservatory and the conservatory in Schenly park were damaged to the extent of $1000 each. The noise caused by the breaking glass, the roar of the wind and the patter of hailstones on the roof frightened the matinee audiences and panics were barely avoided at the Grand Opera House, the Bijou Theatre, the Adacemy of Music and the Alvin Theatre. During the storm a score of runaways occurred and many vehicles were wrecked. Every photograph gallery in the two cities was damaged and many valuable pictures ruined. The skylights in the Federal building were broken and the water descended in torrents, flooding the entire building. Cellars were flooded and many streets rendered impassable by the debris washed from the hills.

Convention of Bartenders.

Chicago, May 20.—A decidedly novel convention opened to-day at the Fifth Avenue Hall. It is the International Association of Bar Tenders, an organization of sixty-two local unions, and eleven thousand members, and which is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. The convention will last for a week. Special topics have been assigned for each day. A standard method of making mixed drinks is a special subject under discussion to-day, the delegates giving their views and experiences with Manhattan, Champagne, Kentucky and other cocktails. Another day will be given up to the consideration of the best methods of mixing punches. As a result of the convention it is probable that many new and mysteriously concocted drinks will be introduced to the different sections of the country when the delegates return to their homes.

Promotion of Higher Christian Life.

Chicago, May 19.—A largely-attended convention for the promotion of the higher Christian life opened last evening in the Chicago Avenue church, under the auspices of Dwight L. Moody, with the co-operation of Rev. John McGregor of Aberdeen, Rev. Hubert Brooke (Episcopalian)of England, and Rev. Charles Ianwood (Wesleyan), England. It will continue for seven days.

General American Dispatches.

New York, May 19.—The Earl and Countess of Aberdeen, who came to this country purposely to attend the opening of the World's Fair, returned to this city from Chicago to-night, and are staying at the Brevoort House. The Earl said he had been much pleased with his experiences in America, and was enthusiastic over the merits of the big fair. The party will sail at nine o'clock to-morrow morning for England on the Cunard line steamship Aurania.

Bordeaux, May 18.—The extensive wine vaults of the Eschenauer's have been destroyed by fire. The loss is computed at 2,000,000 francs.

Louisville, Ky., May 20.—It is officially announced to-day that A. V. Dupont, the millionaire bachelor, was not murdered. The coroner, the physician who was called to the disorderly house to attend him, and the undertaker who prepared the body for burial, made affidavits to-day that Mr. Dupont's death was caused by heart disease. The rumor of murder was caused by efforts on the part of Dupont's family to suppress the fact that he died where he did.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 20.—The attorneys for the Order of the Iron Hall, have issued a circular letter to the members in which they say that the Supreme Court in its decision sustaining the receivership will require a new sitting and new officers throughout, some provision for the preservation and proper application of the funds of the order and some plan for the payment of matured certificates.

Washington, May 20.—A telegram received at the war department from Gen. Ruger, commanding the department of California, repeating the dispatch he received from Captain Carpenter, the officer sent to Puyallup Indian reservation to prevent Mr. Ross from unlawfully building a railroad across the reservation, says that an injunction has been served upon him by the circuit court, preventing him from interfering with Ross. Secretary Lamont has referred the matter to the Attorney-General, giving his story of the case and the appearance of the troops, and requesting him to have the United States district attorney defend the officer. The case was to be heard at Seattle to-day.

Washington, May 20.—The Infanta and suite called on the President and Mrs. Cleveland at 11 o'clock to-day and were received in the blue room. There was little in the reception that suggested formality, and the party indulged in pleasant conversation, which lasted 15 minutes, when the royal visitors withdrew.

Port Townsend, May 19.—An elaborate reception and ball was tendered the officers of the Behring Sea fleet now in the harbor, at the Chamber of Commerce hall to-night. The special guests of the evening were: Commander Ludlow and officers of the Mohican; Captain Longnecker and officers of the Ranger, Captain Healy and officers of the Bear, Captain Munger and officers of the Corwin, and Captain Hooper and officers of the Rush.

Reviving an Old Law.

Topeka, Kan., May 20.—Attorney-General Little has discovered an old and forgotten law requiring all corporations doing business in the state to file with the secretary of state annual statements for all business done, under a penalty of $200 a month for continued neglect. He now proposes to strictly enforce this law, and take steps to forfeit the charters of all companies not complying with it. As there are a number of corporations with their principal stockholders in the east, the local directors are somewhat worried about the move.

WOULD NOT CHANGE THE FOOD!

Sent to Toronto For the Right Kind.

A mother living outside of Toronto wrote a few weeks ago to the manufacturers of Lactated Food, assuring them that the great food had saved her baby's life. She stated that her faith was so firmly fixed in the wonderful virtues of this nourishing article of diet that she cannot be induced to use any other. She mentions the fact that when her stock of Lactated food was exhausted one day, she sent to her local dealer for more, but was informed that he was just out of it. In order to make a sale he recommended another make of artificial food, which was promptly refused, and the lady sent at once to Toronto for a supply.

This rule is closely followed by every mother who knows what Lactated Food can do for her baby. Once tried, it is always the favorite in the home. Lactated Food is truly the baby's benefactor and preserver. Try it at once, mother, if your baby is not doing well with other foods: the results will astonish you.

The Warship New York.

Boston, May 20.—The cruiser New York made an unofficial run to-day over the ocean course between Cape Ann and Cape Porpoise. The wind was light from the northwest and the course smooth. Though the Cramps were reticent as to the exact figures, it was evident that the representatives of the shipbuilding firm were thoroughly satisfied with the performance of their latest creation. As there are many errors yet to be eliminated from to-day's calculation, such as strength and direction of the current and a slight deviation from the straight line, and as the mark vessels were not in position it is safe to say that the New York attained a speed of 20.5 knots or more per hour and developed at least 16,500 horse power. Monday's trial will doubtless show the New York to be a 20.75-knot ship, if not more.

VALUABLE ESTATE

For Sale or Exchange for City Property.

In consequence of sickness the owner has decided to sell the ranch known as Stroebel's Addition to the cities of Huntingdon and Sumas, an investment seldom offered; location good. One hundred acres of good bottom and prairie land, well ditched and improved; Farm House, Outbuildings, etc. This property is sure to become in the near future valuable town property, independent of being good farming land. It is at present a railway centre. The Canadian Pacific Railway Company purchased a piece of the above described quarter section for their station; and also for the proposed Chilliwack Railway coming in on this property, which will add one more to the many railways already there. The adjoining property constitutes the cities of Huntingdon and Sumas, where there is a population of 1000 people. The B.B. and B.C. Railway Company and the Northern Pacific Railway Company's stations are some two hundred yards from the land now offered for sale. The B.I. and F.V. Railway Company's station will be erected a few yards from this property, if not on it. Fifty acres ready for the plough. Part of it already in crop. The above is a good opening for anyone wishing to commence in the milk or dairy business. The buyer would have the privilege of running a large number of cattle over six thousand acres of unfenced prairie land adjoining the above place. This land is well adapted for hop raising, and will grow hay at the rate of four tons to the acre, which can be shipped into vancouver by the B.I. and F.V. Railway or the Canadian Pacific at a moderate rate. The above place will be sold cheap. Possession can be given at any time. Terms will be made liberal and made to suit the purchaser. A large percentage of the purchase consideration will be allowed to remain on mortgage security at current rate of interest. Further particulars on application to undersigned. Apply to

View street and branches,

Spring Ridge and Fernwood road,

Cook street and branches,

Michigan and Superior streets,

Oswego street,

Menzies street,

North and South Pandora streets,

Victoria West,

And other necessary drains not specified.

AND WHEREAS the estimated cost of such works is $125,000.

AND WHEREAS for the purpose aforesaid it is intended to raise, by way of loan upon the credit of the city the sum of $125,000.

AND WHEREAS it will require the sum of $8,125 to be raised annually by special rate for the payment of the said debt and interest hereinafter mentioned.

AND WHEREAS the amount of the whole rateable property of the corporation of the city of Victoria according to the last revised assessment roll, being for the year 1892, was $18,749,125.

AND WHEREAS it will require an annual special rate of four-fifths of one mill in the dollar for the payment of the interest and for creating an equal yearly sinking fund for paying the principal of the said new debt according to the Municipal Act, 1892.

AND WHEREAS it is intended to reduce the general rate so that the said special rate shall not increase the total rate of taxation.

Be it therefore enacted by the Council of the Corporation of the City of Victoria as follows:

Sec. 1. It shall be lawful for the Mayor of the Corporation of the City of Victoria to borrow upon the credit of the said Corporation by way of debentures hereinafter mentioned, from any person or persons or body or bodies corporate who may be willing to advance the same as a loan, a sum of money not exceeding in the whole the sum of $125,000 00 currency, and to cause all such sums so raised or received to be paid into the hands of the treasurer of the said corporation for the purpose and with the object hereinbefore recited.

Sec. 2. It shall be lawful for the said Mayor to cause any number of debentures to be made for such sums as may be required, not exceeding, however, the sum of $125,000 00 in currency, each of the said debentures being of the amount of $1,000, and all such debentures shall be sealed with the seal of the said corporation and signed by the Mayor thereof.

Sec. 3. The said debentures shall be made payable in fifty years from the date hereinafter mentioned for this by-law to take effect, at the office of the treasurer of the said corporation, in the City Hall, Victoria, and shall have attached to them coupons for the payment of interest, and the signature of the Mayor and of the Clerk of the Corporation respectively to the coupons may be affixed by printed, stamped or lithographed fac simile.

Sec. 4. The said debentures shall bear interest at the rate of 4 1-2 per cent. per annum from the date thereof, which interest shall be payable half yearly at the office of the said treasurer.

Sec. 5. For the purpose of forming a sinking fund for the payment of the said debentures and the interest to become due thereon an equal special rate of four-fifths of one mill in the dollar shall in addition to all other rates be levied and collected in each year upon all rateable property within the city of Victoria during the continuance of the said debentures or any of them.

Sec. 6. In case of any conflict, inconsistency or repugnancy between the provisions of this by-law and any of the provisions of the Local Improvement By-law, 1892, as amended by By-law No. 178, entitled, "A By-law to amend the Local Improvement By-law, 1892," the provisions of this by-law shall prevail and override any of the provisions of such Local Improvement By-law to the extent of any such conflict, inconsistency or repugnancy, but this by-law shall not be deemed to in any wise repeal, alter or amend such Local Improvement By-law and amendment, except in so far as this by-law is concerned, and then so far only as is necessary to give full force and effect to this by-law.

Sec. 7. This by-law shall before the passage thereof receive the assent of the electors of the said corporation in a manner provided for by the Municipal Act, 1892, or any amendment thereto, and shall take effect on the first day of May, 1893.

Sec. 8. This by-law may be cited as "The Surface Drains By-law, 1893."

Passed the Municipal Council this 27th day of March, 1893.

Received the assent of and confirmed by the municipal electors on the 18th day of April, 1893.

Reconsidered, adopted, and finally passed by the municipal council on the 19th day of April, 1893.

THE WISDOM OF WIVES.

Where Women Excel in the Ordinary Daily Tasks of Life.

A man's wife often knows more than he knows about a great many things, and while he need not lower himself in her estimation by admitting her mental superiority, it is sometimes well for him to silently recognize her superior intelligence and profit by it.

If he is a wise man he will not be too ready to come into accord with the opinions of his wife, but will affect a great deal of wisdom of his own, even though he knows that he has none.

It never increases a wife's respect for her husband to know that he is her inferior in anything; and it certainly does not increase her respect or her affection to have him intimate by word or look that she does not know anything at all.

The judgment of the average woman, regarding the disbursement of money, is often better than that of the average man. It is often better when it comes to spending money for domestic purposes.

It takes a shrewd shopkeeper or marketman to get ahead of the average woman, while a marketman who is yet new in the business finds it easy to work off stale wares on the average man, and the most conceited man might as well acknowledge frankly that his wife can attend to most of the affairs of her own household better than he can attend to them for her.

Women very often have a most acute perception regarding business affairs. There would probably be fewer failures in the business world if more men would "talk business" with their wives instead of taking it for granted that women "don't understand anything about business."

Many a successful business man owes his success to the keenness of judgment of a partner whose name does not appear in the firm name or the shop windows, and who is not supposed to have any connection with the business, and that partner is his wife, in whom he is wise enough to confide, and whose superior judgment, it is to be hoped, he properly appreciates.

A daily exchange of confidence and a mutual respect for each other's opinions will do much toward making the wheels of any domestic establishment run along smoothly.

Care of Children's Voices.

Mrs. Sarah LeMoyne, the Browning reader, whose rich, flexible voice is potent in her interpretations of the poet of mystery, holds decided opinions upon the development of the voice. She says "there are to-day hundreds of parents whose children 20 years hence will reproach them for neglecting their voices.

"When a child begins to speak his voice education should begin. And how is it begun for many children whose opportunities will be of the best? By giving them over to the companionship of nurses whose speech is ignorant and coarse? Nasal notes and harsh burrs give the baby his early impressions of the art of speaking.

"Right here is where the development of the kindergarten will in time work a great reform. I am certain that one of the outgrowths of the recognition of the value of infantile education will be schools to train children's nurses. May I be there to insist that these coming guardians of the babies take a course in voice-culture.

"Many lovely children whom I know are saddled with the faulty speech of their nurses, handicapped with bad talking habits, from which they will never yet recover.

I am an advocate of the stage and platform as educators. It is well to let children ten see what the human voice is capab f in the way of power and expression. Only be sure to choose your models. The great faults of actors and readers have been mannerisms and affectations, but both stage and platform are improving every year, and have now many elevating and finished voices from which to learn.

"I advocate taking the child voice and molding it and training it. Vocalizing in reading and speaking does not entail any such strain as vocalizing in music; generally when an adult goes to a voice instructor he is in despair at the condition into which careless talking and slovenly habits of speech have brought him. Habit and speech become fixed with especial stubbornness.

"And I wish to impress on you," went on Mrs. LeMoyne, "that the cultivation of the voice does much for one physically. The effort to bring out chest tones expands the lungs, giving them healthful activity. I have seen it stated that to the daily singing of nuns, repeated at regular intervals may be ascribed almost directly their usual excellent health, preserved notwithstanding they have little exercise and open air."

"With children of 14 be on the watch for artificiality and affectation; you will find that boys are timid and girls affected in reading. Guard against the twisting of the lips in enunciating, and don't permit a whine, nasally, over a pathetic passage. One can put feeling into one's voice if one feels something, without sending the sound through the nose. Pathos doesn't talk that way; it speaks in broken sentences, perhaps, and rich with feeling, but it doesn't whine.

"The basis of a good voice is a good stomach. Eat well; sleep well and walk well. It seems odd, perhaps, that drooped shoulders and immovable hips in walking should affect the voice, but they do; whatever adds to the breadth of lung keeps the voice full and strong, and that is the voice that can be trained.

"It is possible for every young person to greatly improve his voice, almost to create a good one out of a poor one. Only you must be watchful. So many children, so many men and women, too, merely drop the jaw and let the words come out as they will, without emphasis or expression, with half only of their meaning conveyed. One grows indignant at such mumbling, as one resents a shambling gait in a person who is able to walk with dignity."

It is not impossible that a time will arrive when the voice educator will come to homes like the music and drawing masters twice a week.—Margaret H. Welch, in St. Louis Republic.

Longest Tunnel in the World.

The longest tunnel in the world will be that now to be constructed through the Simplon. According to the final plans adopted it will have a length of 12.6 miles, or 8.1 miles more than the St. Gothard tunnel. The northern mouth will be situated about 2,300 yards south of Brieg, at the little village of Im Raffl, and the southern 600 yards beyond Ivelle, just below the present wall-gallery. About one-half of the tunnel facing north will have an incline of 1.5 per 1,000 yards just sufficient to cause the water to run off, while the southern portion will have an incline of 6.5 per 1,000 yards. The process of boring will be the same as that followed with the Arlberg tunnel, says the New York Advertiser. Workshops and depots are to be established on the right bank of the Rhone, close to the northern entrance, at a cost of 4,000,000 francs. The power of working required is estimated at 1,450 horse power, viz.: 520 for boring purposes, 780 for ventilation and 266 for electric lighting, etc.—i. e., at the end of the tunnel alone, for which purpose the River Massa is to be dammed up. At the southern side a similar station is to be established, which is calculated to cost 3,000,000 francs and to furnish 2,760 horse power, derived from damming up the River Cairasca. The total cost of the remaining works is estimated at 80,000,000 francs, of which 30,000,000 francs are contributed by the various states interested in the scheme. In order to facilitate the undertaking a track is to be laid on the road between Dornodossola Iselle, while in the borings are to be used Brandt's rotary boring machines. It is calculated that the work will occupy eight years and a half.

Boy Wanted.

A grocer tacked upon his door
A bit of paper; this it bore:

"Boy wanted! At the desk apply,
Pay sure—at first not very high."

Within two days, at early morn,
A grocer's baby boy was born.

His little brother, wild with joy,
Said to his father, "Here's your boy!

"Take down the notice on the door,
For you won't need it any more."

Then added this: "We've got a prize!
Now, don't it pay to advertise?"

How to Get a "Sunlight" Picture.

Send 25 "Sunlight" soap wrappers (wrapper bearing the words "Why Does a Woman Look Old Sooner Than a Man?") to Lever Brothers, Limited, 43 Scott street, Toronto, Ont., and you will receive by post a pretty picture, free from advertising and well worth framing. This is an easy way to decorate your home. The soap is the best in the market, and will only cost 1c. postage to send in the wrappers, if you leave the ends open. Write your address carefully.

The Parson's Knowing Appeal.

In a church in the north of England on a recent Sunday morning a clergyman, appealing for subscriptions for the steeple fund, addressed his congregation as follows: "Now, my dear friends, I hope you will subscribe handsomely, as we are earnestly in need of funds; but before you do so I wish that you must be just before you are generous. Therefore, brethren, if any of you owe money, pray think of your private claims first." It is hardly necessary to add that every member of the congregation gave his quota to the collection.

BLACK DIAMOND RIFLEMEN.

A Team Will be Here To-Morrow—A Fine Football Game.

Nanaimo, May 22.—A team of ten, selected from the Nanaimo Rifle association, will take part in the provincial rifle matches at Victoria to-morrow. The matches arranged to take place in this city on the 24th have been postponed in consequence.

The final match in the Northfield association football tournament was played on Saturday, and after a hard contested game resulted in the Northfield club winning. A large concourse was present and great enthusiasm prevailed. Not until the second half was a score made. The Rangers claim that the decision of the referee was unfair.

A special meeting of Magna Charta lodge, Sons of England, took place on Saturday night, when arrangements were made for the reception of the visiting lodges of Vancouver, expected here on Wednesday.

A meeting of creditors of J. H. McMillan & Co. took place on Saturday afternoon. The terms proposed by the latter will probably be accepted, as it is said they are very favorable, but no definite action was taken.

T. White won the bicycle race at Northfield on Saturday. A. Deeming, the scratch man, met with a mishap, the tire of his machine coming off. But for this it is believed he would have won.

TORRENS SYSTEM IN THE STATES.

With all their boasted progressiveness, the people of the United States are very slow in the making of some reforms. For many years the secret ballot system was in successful operation in Canada before our neighbors found out its advantages. When they did adopt it they called it the "Australian" system, as if to cover up their failure to discover its usefulness sooner. In like manner, they seem to be preparing to follow Canadians in the adoption of the Torrens system of land transfer. The state of Illinois is likely to be the pioneer in this reform, as the senate of that state has passed a bill to introduce it there, and the measure is expected to become law. As in other places, the chief opposition to the change comes from the lawyers, who do not regard simplification of the land transfer process as profitable to them. Nevertheless the change will likely be effected, and Illinois' experience with the new system may be expected to secure its adoption in other states. The Chicago Herald in noting the passage of the bill through the state senate on an almost unanimous vote says: "This is as it should be, and within the next ten days it ought to be sent to the governor for his sanction. With such decided legislative approval he will have no difficulty in giving it his signature, so that we may expect the law to go into operation on July 1st. Even if we call this measure an experiment—which it is not—it is well worth the trial. That our present system of conveyancing land and accrediting titles is becoming more and more arduous and onerous every year is one of the most potent facts in real estate business. Under the system as proposed when it is brought into working shape there will be no more delay in the transfer of a lot than there is in the transfer of a horse. And why should there be? Both are property, and there is no more tangibility to the one than to the other."

A "QUIXOTIC TASK."

The Monetary Times seems to have very little faith in the Ministerial tariff inquiry, for in a recent issue it says: "Unless the object of the Dominion Government in making a tour of the country to consult persons connected with enterprises favored by the tariff, was to get evidence against tariff reform, the result of the enquiry must prove unwelcome. Everyone, as a rule, told what changes he wanted for his own benefit. When anyone admitted the necessity of reductions in the tariff, it was generally on some material which enters into his own manufacture. Some such reductions, it may be, can be legitimately made; but in most cases there is a difficulty in the way. If the articles which enter into the manufactures and on which a reduction is asked were strictly raw materials, reduction, besides being sound policy, would be easy of accomplishment; but when they are, for most purposes, finished manufactures, it is next to impossible to discriminate in favor of the manufacturers asking reductions, or without discrimination to make large reductions on the whole of the class in question. If we are to believe their own statements, some manufacturers on whose products there is a high duty are paying as much on the materials they use, and are getting no benefit from the tariff. This presentation of the case will add to the mass of perplexity and confusion which the Minister of Finance has invited, in an investigation which implies that the Government can arbitrarily regulate the whole business of the country. This functionary is not likely to reap a harvest of glory as the result of the Quixotic task he has undertaken."

The Montreal Gazette takes the trouble to inform the Mainlanders that their petition for the disallowance of the Parliament Buildings bill is not at all likely to be successful. "If the principle for which the British Columbia petitions contend could be recognized," it says, "the provincial legislatures might as well be abolished at once and the appropriation of local revenue be undertaken by the Federal authorities. The privilege of the rulers of the province is to go wrong if they choose so to do, with the assent of the majority of the people's representatives, leaving the verdict to the electorate at the appointed time." Even without this assurance from the Montreal government organ we should have no hesitation in predicting the failure of the Mainland petition, for the reason that the policy of non-interference in purely local affairs has been quite frequently proclaimed at Ottawa.

On Monday last occurred an anniversary of considerable interest to Canadians. That day 40 years ago the first railway in Upper Canada, and one of the first in the whole of Canada, was opened for traffic. It was then known as the Simcoe & Huron railway, its title being changed afterwards to "Northern Railway of Canada." Now, as is well known, the road is operated by the Grand Trunk. The 40 years that have elapsed since this pioneer road was opened have seen a wonderful development of the railway business in Canada.

It seems that last week some Montreal busybody, taking advantage of the financial flurry across the line, started a rumor that the Bank of Montreal had failed. Fortunately the "rumorist" directed his attack against an institution that could not be affected by it, or he might have been able to do some mischief.

SUNDAY CLOSING.

To the Editor: While Ald. McKillican is warm on the above subject and has such profitable concerns as barbers and candy stores on his list, perhaps he may be able to include the tram cars and the hack companies also in his by-law which he is about to introduce, the traffic of which seems to me to be as great a violation of the sanctity of the Lord's day as either of the above business concerns. As to the consideration and convenience of the travelling public, this I think would be readily excused when it is remembered upon whose command Sunday observance is based, and this one day's rest appreciated not only by those now employed on that day, but by the Christian community at large. I believe this subject was mooted in Toronto and England some time ago, but with what result I am not at present aware. At all events, if the observance of Sunday is to be further promoted in Victoria, I trust our city fathers will take a just and impartial view of what this by-law should really include.

"CITIZEN."

BACK FROM THE BENCH SHOW.

Some of the Awards Made Excited Very Marked Criticism.

Mr. Frank Turner, of the Mount Tolmie kennels, returned last night from Seattle, where he has been attending the bench show. On account of not being notified in time he took over only 12 dogs, gathered together hurriedly, but managed to bring back ten ribbons. He also sold to Mr. J. S. Graham, a merchant of Seattle, a pair of Dr. Milne's cockers, Mount Tolmie V. H. C. and Baby Mine 1st. Mr. Graham is to be congratulated on his purchase, as the doctor is rapidly coming to the front with his kennel of cockers. Mr Turner also sold Duke 2nd English setters, and several other dogs. The Victoria dogs scored in every class they competed in, and it is to be regretted that more were not sent over to be passed upon by the judge, Mr. Raper. He is very painstaking and conscientious, and a good all round judge, though his awards are open to argument in the St. Bernard, collie and fox terrier classes.

Mr. J. B. Carmichael also visited the show and furnishes the following notes: The St. Bernard awards gave great dissatisfaction. Plinmonarch, first, is a large and active dog, but has faults that should have placed him third. He is cow-hocked and his head, though large, wants girth and runs out too long and straight from ear to eye, which gives him an expression like an English setter. Alton, 3rd, has magnificent head and was an easy first, while Don Sancho though light in head, has a body and coat that should have placed him second.

In Great Danes Titan won on head and color, though his back is arched and his bones are narrow. In English setters the Victoria dogs lost through condition. Duke 2nd being stiff from want of exercise, and Trust 3rd was an easy first had he not been so thin. Robigo, whose winning at Victoria caused so much comment, was absolutely disqualified.

In cockers Dr. Milne had it all his own way.

In collies, Mr. Dempster's Claremont Garry, a handsome son of Christopher, won hands down. He has a magnificent head and ears though a little open in coat. Rover, 2nd, is a small, short, broad-headed, prick-eared dog, and Lea Rig, V. H. C. has drop-ears, and tail curled over his back like an Esquimaux. Molly Bawn is a small bitch, low in front, bad ears and very weak head. The judge gave her first over Metchley Flurry, saying he didn't want to encourage puppies in the open class. The winning puppies had badly carried ears set too far back, were low in front and crooked legs. Metchley Flurry, V. H. C., has a good head and ears, has good shape and frill but has not yet grown her coat. Mr. Raper's judging in the collie classes was very severely criticised. He also made a bad break in giving the challenge fox terrier a first. Though a good dog he has brindle marks on his head and two large cherry marks on his nose. The other classes were all very medium and easily judged.

Borne to the Grave.

The funeral of the late John Henderson took place yesterday afternoon from the house, Mt. Newton, and at 2 o'clock from Christ Church cathedral. The funeral services were read by Rev. Canon Beanlands. There was a special musical service, Mr. Pauline presiding at the organ. The pallbearers were: Messrs. Johns, Simpson, Thomas, Marcotte, Thompson and Downie.

Must be Identified.

Collector of Customs Milne says that he has not yet received the money from Ottawa awarded by the imperial government as compensation to owners and masters of sealing schooners for being prohibited from sealing during the season of '91. A despatch appeared in the Toronto Empire dated Ottawa, May 9th, stating that the money had been forwarded to Victoria. Mr. Milne says that it may arrive any day. The question of identification of hunters and sealers has been adjusted. The Ottawa government proposed to distribute the money to those entitled to it, at the nearest point to their place of abode. Collector Milne pointed out that if the money were sent to one point the sealers might be sealing in another. He said that they all passed through Victoria, or a large portion of them. The money will be sent here. Hunters and sealers will have to be identified by the master, owner and mate of the vessel in which they shipped for the season of '91, otherwise they will receive no compensation. It is thought that this system of identification will prevent imposition.

Collector Milne was to-day instructed by the Ottawa authorities to pay to the owners and masters of sealing schooners as compensation for prohibition against entering Behring Sea in '91 the sum of $74,634. Payments will be made to-morrow.

Arrived From Kaslo.

Ex.Ald. Devlin, who has been in Kaslo for the past few months, has returned to Victoria on account of the illness of one of his family. Mr. Devlin says that business just now is considered a little quiet in Kaslo by the Kalsonians themselves, because things are not rushing ahead as they have been for some time. The explanation of this state of affairs is found in the fact that as yet it is "between seasons" in the Kootenay country. It is too late to traverse the mountains by the usual winter means of transportation and there is so much snow melting that progress of any kind is impossible to the prospector. Mr. Devlin thinks business will not resume the old activity for about one month yet, when, judging from the amount of work in prospect it will be better than ever.

VOYAGE OF THE QUADRA.

The Trim Dominion Steamer Returns from the North.

STEAMED NINETEEN HUNDRED MILES

All the Survey Parties Safely Landed—Rough Weather on the Way North—Capt. Vancouver's New Eddystone Rock.

The Dominion steamer Quadra, Capt. Walbran, returned to Victoria yesterday afternoon, after being absent on her trip to Alaska 23 days. All the arrangements made by Chief Commissioner King regarding the landing of the different surveying parties at their points of duty in the north, have been most successfully carried out.

The Quadra left Victoria on April 29th, called the next day at Departure Bay for coal, and arrived at Port Simpson early on the morning of May 4th. Here two canoes were left for Mr. McEvoy's geological party, and a further small supply of stores was purchased by Mr. King. The Quadra anchored in Burroughs Bay, Alaska, on the afternoon of the 6th. Here the first surveying party was landed, consisting of Mr. St. Cyr and ten men. High mountains covered with snow surround this bay, and during the Quadra's stay of two days, the weather was very gloomy, the rain falling incessantly in torrents. Burroughs Bay is at the head of Bhem's Canal, a long stretch of inland water extending in a circular direction from Revilla-Gigedo channel to Clarence Strait, and first examined by Vancouver himself. In this channel is situated the singular rock which the great explorer named the New Eddystone. In the middle of the channel is a small and low pebbly bank, and rising out of the centre of this bank, like a tower, to a height of 250 feet, is this rock, perfectly bold and upright. Two or three trees are on one side of the base, and it was noticed from the Quadra that one tree, remarkably prominent in Vancouver's sketch, a copy of which was on the ship, is yet in existence, the only difference being in the size of the tree, which has grown larger during the hundred years it has been there.

From Burroughs Bay the steamer proceeded to Wrangell. Here Messrs. Talbot and Gibbons, with 12 men, were left. Holkham Bay was the next station, and Messrs. McArthur and Brabazon, with 10 men, landed here. The first ice in the water was seen here, and an enormous glacier was visible from the anchorage. On the passage from Holkham Bay to Juneau, several small icebergs were met with floating down Stephens passage. The weather as far as Holkham Bay had been wet and stormy from the southeast; here it changed and since then has been all that could be desired; clear and sunshiny.

The Quadra arrived at Juneau on the 12th of May, and the last party, consisting of Mr. Ogilvie and six men, landed, their scene of duty being Taku Inlet and neighborhood, a few miles to the southward.

The homeward passage was commenced on May 13th, and Burroughs Bay again visited on the 14th. Mr. Klotz was landed here; he is the gentleman who will join the Thistle on her arrival there, and keep the surveying parties in connection with each other, visiting the different stations as occasion demands.

Near Port Simpson Captain Walbran replaced a new spar buoy on the Sparrowhawk rock, another new one on the Hodgson reef, and also examined and sounded the upper part of Big bay, where Mr. G. Williscroft's sawmill is situated. The necessary corrections were made and will be forwarded to Ottawa, the chart being found most erroneous at this point. At Metlahkatlah all the harbor buoys were re-laid and a large spar buoy replaced on the reef off Tugwell Island. Metlahkatlah was left on the morning of the 18th, and anchor let go in Carter Bay for the night. The Doll Patch buoy in Seaforth channel was renewed on the 19th; Ledge Point buoy near Alert Bay on the 20th; from Alert Bay the Quadra returned to Victoria. From Burroughs Bay the only passengers were Professor King and his secretary, Mr. Warden, who will both return east in a few days.

The distance made during the cruise was 1900 miles.

THEY CANNOT SHOOT.

Militiamen Have No Right to Shoot Within the City Limits.

The test case of Bernard Williams and A. R. Langley, charged with shooting within the city limits, went against them this morning in the police court. That means that any one may bring action against the militia or the members of the British Columbia Rifle association and stop target practice at Clover Point. The fine imposed by Magistrate Macrae was nominal, 25 cents. Col. Holmes gave evidence that the Clover Point range had been considered a military range for years. Col. Wolfenden quoted from the minutes of the British Columbia Rifle association to that effect. Magistrate Macrae in rendering judgment said that it was not denied that firing had been done by the defendants on the range last Saturday. It was contended that the firing was not in wanton disregard of the militia regulations and that due care was exercised, and that the by-law prohibiting firing referred only to wanton firing. The court held that wanton referred to disregard of the by-law. The council had granted permission, but the council could not legally grant permission unless the present by-law were amended. It was contended that under the militia act the Queen had power to appropriate any lands for target practice. The fact was admitted, but it had not been shown that such power had been exercised. Magistrate Macrae then formally fined each defendant 25 cents. Personally he advised the militiamen to ask of the council that the by-law be amended.

C. D. Mason, lawyer for the militiamen, gave notice of an appeal to the supreme court.

Hugh Grant, of Valdez Island, is laid up with a sore leg, caused by a cut inflicted with an axe.

Six Months' Imprisonment.

Magistrate Macrae sentenced Sewell Simms to six months in jail this morning. Simms was convicted of striking George Bedford, alias Dan Apples, with an axe. Justus Robb, who lives in one of Carpenter's cabins, swore that he heard a disturbance in the cabin of Billy Griffith. He ran to the cabin; Simms had Bedford by the left arm and was striking him with an axe. Robb took the axe away from Simms. Simms, Bedford and Griffith were all drunk. Bedford in the witness box said he was so drunk that he did not know who was striking him.

War Between Creditors.

The case of Boucherat & Co. against Johnston, Glaholm & Co., Richards et al. of Nanaimo came on for hearing today in the supreme court before the chief justice without a jury. Mr. J. Stuart Yates, with Messrs. Jay and Baxter, appeared for the plaintiff, and Messrs. E. V. Bowell, F. McB. Young for the defendants. The facts are as follows: In February, 1893, Mr. Richards, one of the defendants, at that time proprietor of the Hotel Wilson, Nanaimo, was in embarrassed circumstances. He had given two bills of sale to creditors in Victoria for $3,000. On Feb. 20th he gave another bill of sale for $1,547 to Johnston, Glaholm & Co. On March 21st the plaintiffs obtained a judgment against him for $2,200. On March 7th the landlord put in a bailiff for arrears of rent, and subsequently other creditors sent bailiffs in until at last the sheriff appeared on the scene with a writ of execution at the instance of the plaintiffs, who were the only judgment creditors. As there were so many conflicting claims the sheriff made application to the court for an interpleader issue to be tried, and in the meantime Mr. Herbert Stanton was appointed receiver. Before Mr. Justice Drake it was agreed that an issue should be tried to ascertain whether the claimants under the bills of sale or the creditors had a first charge, and it was further agreed that Boucherat & Co. should be the plaintiffs in the action. This, it is contended, places them at the disadvantage of having to show that the bill of sale to Johnston & Co. was obtained by fraud or pressure or is otherwise invalid.

At 1:30 the court adjourned for one hour.

After adjournment further evidence on behalf of the plaintiff was taken, whereupon his lordship, on the motion of Mr. Bodwell, granted a non-suit on the ground that the giving by Richards a bill of sale to Johnston & Co. was a bona fide transaction and not intended to defeat or delay the claims of prior creditors.

MUTUAL FORBEARANCE.

Bishop Perrin, at His Reception, Advises Everyone to Practice That Virtue.

The reception to Bishop Perrin at Odd Fellows' Hall on Saturday evening was well attended by adherents of the Church of England, and also by members of other denominations. Bishop Perrin was driven to the hall, accompanied by Archdeacon Scriven, and they were received by the committee. As the Bishop entered the hall Pauline's orchestra played "The Church's One Foundation." Mr. Justice Crease read the following address after the bishop had been escorted to the seat of honor:

To the Right Rev. William Wilcox Perrin, D. D., Lord Bishop of British Columbia:

Right Rev. Father in God:—We, the executive committee of the Anglican Synod of the Diocese of British Columbia, in committee assembled, and acting on behalf of the Synod, cordially welcome you on your arrival in your diocese.

We acknowledge, with grateful appreciation, the devoted self-denial which, under Divine guidance, has induced you to extend to the church in Vancouver Island the same wise, fostering care and administrative power with which your earnest and successful parochial work in the mother land has been attended.

We pray that your sojourn here may not only be a source of permanent satisfaction to yourself, but also conduce in the highest possible degree to the unity, happiness and progress of the church in this diocese, and to the increase of the honor and glory of Almighty God.

Signed on behalf of the executive committee.

AUSTIN SCRIVEN, (Archdeacon.)
Chairman.

Synod Office, May 18, 1893.

Bishop Perrin returned thanks for the courtesies extended him. He felt pain at parting with old friends in England, but hoped soon to make friends of those whom he saw around him. He was gratified by the hearty reception and pleased with the magnificent country. He himself disclaimed any credit for self denial, but said that estimable quality had distinguished his predecessor, Bishop Hills, who was revered as a leading pioneer bishop. It would be no easy task for him to supply the place of Bishop Hills. He had his own opinions on church affairs; others had different views, but mutual forbearance would enable them to get along nappily together.

Those present were then introduced to the bishop and the reception ended.

Bishop Perrin preached at Christ Church Cathedral at Sunday morning and evening services. The services were carried out in the following order:

In the Reported Deportation of Chinamen From the States.

It was Saturday afternoon and a government half-holiday, but Collector of Customs Milne was busily engaged in answering correspondence when a Times man entered his office and showed him a dispatch from San Francisco that the Six Chinese Companies were entering into a gigantic scheme to defeat the ends of the Geary Act by deporting celestials into British Columbia and Mexico, and again bring them back when things looked more favorable. Mr. Milne read the dispatch and said: "I do not thing there is anything in it. And I'll tell you why. The Chinese immigration act imposes a per capita tax of $50 on Chinese entering Canada by steamer or otherwise. If Chinese were brought here they would have to pay the per capita tax. I understand the intention to be to have them ready so that they could be easily taken back to the United States. But it would be a financial gain to ship them to China and bring them back again in preference to paying the per capita tax. Last fall the steamship companies carried Chinamen for a fare of $11. Even allowing that the companies were to charge $20 for each Chinaman for the trip to or from China, then the round trip would be only $40. This would be $10 a head cheaper than paying the per capita tax. Of course if they think that they can smuggle them across the border and pay no tax, then it might be cheaper to bring them to British Columbia. But the Canadian customs will show the celestials every attention. The smuggling will work well till they are found out, and that won't be long. It may be a different thing with Mexico. I do not think that there is any tax in that country upon Chinese. I think you can safely say that the celestials along the border line are not sufficiently numerous to cause alarm. We will be equal to the emergency if it arises."

AT THE TABERNACLE.

REV. DR. TALMAGE'S ELOQUENT SERMON ON THE HARP AND JAVELIN.

An Extremely Vivid Word Picture—Perils That Can Be Avoided—Javelins of Wit, of Irony, of Sophistry and of Diabolic Hostility.

BROOKLYN, May 14.—In his sermon this forenoon in the Brooklyn Tabernacle Rev. Dr. Talmage brought in a novel and practical conjunction that is suggested by a text perhaps never before chosen. The opening hymn, led by organ and cornet and joined in by thousands of voices, was:

Before Jehovah's awful throne
Ye nations bow with sacred joy.

The subject announced was "Harp and Javelin," the text being I Samuel, eighteenth chapter, tenth and eleventh verses: "And David played with his hand as at other times, and there was a javelin in Saul's hand. And Saul cast the javelin, for he said, I will smite David even to the wall with it. And David avoided out of his presence twice."

What a spectacle for all ages! Saul, a giant, and David, a dwarf. An unfortunate war ballad had been composed and sung eulogizing David above Saul. That song threw Saul into a paroxysm of rage which brought on one of his old spells of insanity to which he had been subject. If one is disposed to some physical ailment and he get real mad, it is very apt to bring on one of his old attacks. Saul is a raving maniac, and he goes to imitating the false prophets or sibyls, who kicked and gesticulated wildly when they pretended to be foretelling events.

Whatever the physicians of the royal staff may have prescribed for the disordered king I know not, but David prescribed music. Having keyed up the harp, his fingers began to pull the rhythm from the vibrating strings. Thrum! Thrum! Thrum! No use. The king will not listen to the exquisite cadences. He lets fly a javelin, expecting to pin the minstrel to the wall, but David dodged the weapon and kept on, for he was confident that he could, as before, subdue Saul's bad spirit by music.

Again the javelin is flung, and David dodges it and departs. What a contrast! Roseate David with a harp and enraged Saul with a javelin. Who would not rather play the one than fling the other? But that was not the only time in the world's history that harp and javelin met. Where their birthplace was I cannot declare. It is said that the lyre was first suggested by the tight drawing of the sinews of a tortoise across its shell, and that the flute was first suggested by the blowing of the wind across a bed of reeds, and that the ratio of musical intervals was first suggested to Pythagoras by the different hammers on the anvil of the smithy, but the harp seems to me to have dropped out of the sky and the javelin to have been thrown up from the pit.

The oldest stringed instrument of the world is the harp. Jubal sounded his harp in the book of Genesis. David played many of his psalms on the harp while he sang them. The captives in Babylon hung their harps on the willows. Josephus celebrated the invention of the 10-stringed harp. Timotheus the Milesian was imprisoned for adding the twelfth string to the harp, because too much luxury of sound might enervate the people. Egyptian harps, Scottish harps, Welsh harps, Irish harps have been celebrated. What an inspired triangle!

Everlasting honors to Sebastian Erard, who by pedals invented called the foot as well as the hand to the harp. When the harpsicord maker for whom he worked discharged him for his genius, the employer not wanting to be eclipsed by his subordinate, Erard suffered from the same passion of jealousy that threw Saul of my text into the fit during which he flung a javelin at the harpist. The harp is almost human, as you find when you put your finger on its pulse.

Other instruments have louder voice and may be better for a battle charge, but what exquisite sweetness slumbers between the harp strings, waking at the first touch of the tips of the fingers. It can weep. It can plead. It can sooth. It can pray. The flute is more mellow, the trumpet is more startling, the organ is more majestic, the cymbals are more festive, the drum is more resounding, but the harp has a richness of its own and will continue its mission through all time and then take part in celestial symphonies, for St. John says he heard in heaven the harps of God.

But the javelin of my text is just as old. It is about 5½ feet long, with wooden handle and steel point, keen and sharp. But it belongs to the great family of death dealers and is brother to sword and spear and bayonet, and first cousin to all the implements that wound and slay. It has cut its way through the ages. It was old when Saul, in the scene of my text, tried to harpoon David. It has gashed the earth with grave trenches. Its keen tip is reddened with the blood of American wars, English wars, German wars, Russian wars, French wars, Crusader wars and wars of all nations and of all ages.

The structure of the javelin shows what it was made for. The plowshare is sharp, but aimed to cut the earth in preparation for harvests. The lightning rod is sharp, but aimed to disarm the lightnings and secure safety. The ax is sharp, but aimed to fell forests and clear the way for human habitation. The knife is sharp, but aimed to cut the bread for sustenance. But the javelin is sharp only to open human arteries and extinguish human eyesight and take human life and fill the earth with the cries of orphanage and widowhood and childlessness.

Oh, I am so glad that my text brings them so close together that we can see the contrast between the harp and the javelin. The one to soothe, the other to hurt; the one to save, the other to destroy; the one divine, the other diabolic; the one to play, the other to hurl; the one in David's skillful hand, the other in Saul's wrathful clutch. May God speed the harp; may God grind into dullness the sharp edge of the javelin!

Now what does all this make you think of? It suggests to me music as a medicine for physical and mental disorders. David took hold of the musical instrument which he best knew how to play and evoked from it sounds which were for King Saul's diversion and medicament. But you say the treatment in this case was a failure. Why was it a failure? Saul refused to take the medicine. A whole apothecary shop of curative drugs will do nothing toward healing your illnesses if you refuse to take the medicine. It was not the fault of David's prescription, but the fault of Saul's obstinacy.

David, one of the wisest and best of all ages, stands before us in the text administering music for nervous disorder and cerebral disturbance. And David was right. Music is the mightiest force in all therapeutics. Its results may not be seen as suddenly as other forms of cure, but it is just as wonderful. You will never know how much suffering and sorrow music has assuaged and healed. A soldier in the United States army said that on the days the regimental band played near the hospitals all the sick and wounded revived, and men who were so lame they could not walk before got up and went out and sat in the sunshine, and those so dispirited that they never expected to get home began to pack their baggage and ask about timetables on steamboat and rail train.

Theodosius, the emperor, wrathful at the behavior of the people of Antioch, who on some sudden provocation tore down the statues of emperor and empress, resolved severely to punish them, but the bishop, knowing that the emperor had a group of boys sing to him while eating at the table, taught the boys a plaintive song in which the people lamented their bad behavior, and the king, under the pathos of the music, cried out: "The city of Antioch is forgiven." The rage of Achilles was assuaged by a harp. Asclepiades swayed rebellious multitudes by a harp.

After the battle of Yorktown, when a musician was to suffer amputation, and before the days of anæsthetics, the wounded artist called for a musical instrument and lost not a note during the 40 minutes of amputation. Filippo Palma, the great musician, confronted by an angry creditor, played so enchantingly before him that the creditor forgave the debt and gave the debtor 10 guineas more to appease other creditors. An eminent physician of olden time contended (of course, carrying our theory too far) that all ailments of the world could be cured by music. The medical journals never report their recoveries by this mode. But in what twilight hour has many a saint of God solaced a heartache with a hymn hummed or sung or played! Jerome of Prague sang while burning at the stake.

Over what keys of piano or organ consolation has walked! Yea, in church one hymn has rolled peace over a thousand of the worried, perplexed and agonized. While there are hymns and tunes ready for the jubilant, there is a rich hymnology for the suffering—"Naomi" and "Eventide" and "Autumn Leaves" and "Come, Ye Disconsolate," and whole portfolios and librettos of tears set to music.

All the wonderful triumphs of surgery and all the new modes of successful treatment of physical and mental disorders are discussed in medical conventions and spread abroad in medical books, and it is high time that some of the millions of souls that have been medicated by music, vocal and instrumental, let the world know what power there is in sweet sound, whether rolling from lip or leaping from tightened chord or ascending from ivory key. Music is a universal language. At the foot of the Tower of Babel language was split into fragments never to be again put together, but one thing was not hurt, and that is music, and it is the same all the world over.

Last summer in Russia at a watering place we were greeted as we entered a great auditorium which was filled with thousands of Russians, whose language I could not understand any more than they could understand mine. But after the grand band had, out of compliment to us, played our two great American airs I stepped on the platform and said to the bandmaster, "Russian air! Russian air!" and then he tapped with his baton on the music rack, and with a splendor and majesty of power that almost made us quail the full band poured forth their national anthem. They understood our American music, and we understood their Russian music. It is a universal language and so good for universal cure.

I should not wonder if in the day of judgment it should be found out that more souls have been saved by music than by preaching. I should not wonder if, out of the 144,000 ransomed souls that John foresaw before the throne of God, at least 130,000 had been saved by sweet song. Why does not the church on earth take the hint? Heaven is the great musical center of the universe, the place of doxologies and trumpets and harps, and in preparation for that place we ought to make more of music on earth.

The band of music at Waterloo played the retreat of the Forty-second Highlanders back to their places, and sacred music has returned many a faltering host of God into the Christian conflict with as much determination and dash as Tennyson's "Six Hundred." Who can tell what has been accomplished by Charles Wesley's 7,000 hymns, or by the congregational singing of his time, which could be heard two miles off? When my dear friend Dio Lewis (gone to rest all too soon) conducted a campaign against drunkenness at the west, and marshaled thousands of the noblest women of the land in that magnificent campaign, and whole neighborhoods and villages and cities shut up their grog shops, do you know the chief weapon used? It was the song:

Nearer, my God, to thee,
Nearer to thee.

They sang it at the door of hundreds of liquor saloons which had been open for years, and either at the first charge of the campaign or the second the saloon shut up. At the first verse of "Nearer, My God, to Thee," the liquor dealers laughed; at the second verse they looked solemn; at the third verse they began to cry, and at the fourth verse they got down on their knees. You say they opened their saloons again. Yes, some of them did. But it is a great thing to have hell shut up if only for a week. Give full swing to a good gospel hymn, and it would take the whole world for God!

But when in my text I see Saul declining this medicine of rhythm and cadence and actually hurling a javelin at the heart of David, the harpist, I bethink myself of the fact that sin would like to kill sacred music. We are not told what tune David was playing on the harp that day, but from the character of the man we know it was not a crazy madrigal, or a senseless ditty, or a sweep of strings suggestive of the melodrama, but elevated music, God given music, inspired music, religious music, a whole heaven of it encamped under a harp string. No wonder that wicked Saul hated it and could not abide the sound and with all his might hurled an instrument of death at it.

I know there are styles of music that sin admires, and you hear it as you pass the casino or the dance hall, and the devil has stolen most of the fiddles, though I am glad the Ole Bulls have snatched up the charmed strings from their desecration; but it is a fact that sin has a javelin for sacred sounds. In many churches the javelin of criticism has killed the music, javelin flung from organ loft or from adjoining pew of the supersensitive. Saul's javelin aimed at David's harp. Thousands of people so afraid they may not sing scientifically they will not sing at all or sing with such low tone that no one hears them.

In many a church the javelin of criticism has crippled the harp of worship. If satan could silence all the Sunday school songs and the hymns of Christian worship he would gain his greatest achievement. When the millennial song shall rise (and it is being made ready), there will be such a roll of voices, such a concentrated power of stringed and wind instruments, such majesty, such unanimity, such continental and hemispheric and planetary acclamation that it will be impossible to know where earth stops and heaven begins. Roll on, roll in, roll up, thou millennial harmony!

See also in my subject a rejected opportunity of revenge. Why did not David pick up Saul's javelin and hurl it back again? David had a skillful arm. He demonstrated on another occasion he could wield a sling, and he could have easily picked up that javelin, aimed it at Saul, the would be assassin, and left the foaming and demented monster as lifeless under the javelin as he had left Goliath under a sling. Oh, David, now is your chance. No, no. Men and women with power of tongue or pen or hand to reply to an embittered antagonist, better imitate David. Better imitate David and let the javelin lie at your feet and keep the harp in your hand. Do not strike back. Do not play the game of tit for tat.

Gibbon, in his history, tells of Bajazet, the great Moslem general, who was brought a captive to the tent of Timur. He had attempted the massacre of Timur and his men. Timur said to him: "Had you vanquished us, I am not ignorant of the fate which you reserved for myself and my troops, but I disdain to retaliate. Your life and honor are secure, and I shall express my gratitude to God by my clemency to man." Beautiful!

Revenge on Christian's tongue or pen or hand is inapt and more damage to the one who employs it than the one against whom it is employed. What! A javelin hurled at you and fallen at your feet and you not hurl it back again? Yes, I have tried the plan. I learned it from my father and have practiced it all my life, and it works well, and by the help of God and javelins not picked up I have conquered all my foes and preached funeral sermons in honor of most of them.

The best thing you can do with a javelin hurled at you is to let it lie where it dropped or hang it up in your museum as a curiosity. The deepest wound made by a javelin is not by the sharp edge, but at the dull end of the handle to him who wields it. I leave it to you to say which got the best of that fight in the palace—Saul or David.

See also in my subject that the fact that a man sometimes dodges is not against his courage. My text says that when Saul assailed him "David avoided out of his presence twice"—that is, when the javelin was flung he stepped out of its direction or bent this way or that—in other words, he dodged. But all those who have read the life of David know that he was not lacking in prowess. David had faults, but cowardice was not one of them.

When David, who was, I guess, about 4½ feet high, went out to meet the giant, who was, I guess, about 10 feet high, it was a big undertaking, and the inequalities of the struggle were so great that it struck the giant's idea of the ludicrous, and he suggested to the little fellow that he would make a fine dinner for a buzzard or a jackal. "Come to me, and I will give thy flesh unto the fowls of the air and to the beasts of the field."

When David went out to meet that giant and conquered him, he demonstrated, as he did on other occasions, his courage. But I am so glad that when Saul flung that javelin, David dodged it, or the chief work of his life would never have been done. What a lesson this is to those who go into useless danger and expose their lives or their reputations or their usefulness unnecessarily. When duty demands, go ahead, though all earth and hell oppose. Dodge not one inch from the right position. But when nothing is involved, step back or step aside.

Why stand in the way of perils that you can avoid? Go not into quixotic battles to fight windmills. You will be of more use to the world and the church as an active Christian man than as a target for javelins. There are Christians always in a fight. If they go into churches they fight there. If they go into presbyteries or conferences or consociations they fight there. My advice to you is, if anything is to be gained for God or the truth, stand out of the way of the javelins. I Samuel xviii, 11, "David avoided out of his presence twice."

Washington was as mighty in his retreats as in his advances. His army would several times have been destroyed if he had not dodged. He dodged on Long Island, he dodged on New Jersey heights. Lincoln on his way to inauguration at Washington was waited for by assassins, but he took another train and dodged the desperadoes. We have high example of the fact that sometimes a man will serve God best by disappearing from this or that place, this or that environment.

A mob brought Christ to the top of the rocks back of Nazareth. They did not like his preaching, and they proposed to hurl him down the precipice. But while they were getting ready for the massacre Christ darted into the crowd and amid the confusion escaped to Capernaum and continued exorcising devils and cooling fevers and filling fishnets and giving healthy circulation of blood to paralysis and curing dementia and turning corpses into living men and women and doing his chief work.

What a good thing he dodged the crowd on the rocks back of Nazareth! Likewise at Jerusalem one day, while he was sauntering up and down in Solomon's Porch waiting for an opportunity to say kind words or do a useful deed, the people proposed to pay him for his self sacrifices by stoning him to death, but the record is, "He escaped out of their hands."

See also in my subject the unreasonable attitude of javelin toward harp. What had that harp in David's hand done to the javelin in Saul's hand? Had the vibrating strings of the one hurt the keen edge of the other? Was there an old grudge between the two families of sweet sound and sharp cut? Had the triangle ever insulted the polished shaft? Why the deadly aim of the destroying weapon against the instrument of soothing, calming, healing sound? Well, I will answer that if you will tell me why the hostility of so many to the gospel, why the virulent attacks against Christian religion, why the angry antipathy of so many to the most genial, most inviting, most salutary influence under all the heavens?

Why will men give their lives to writing and speaking and warring against Christ and the gospel? Why the javelin of the world's hatred and rage against the harp of heavenly love? You know and I know men who get wrathfully red in the face and foaming at the mouth, and use the gesture of the clinched fist, and put down their feet with indignant emphasis, and invoke all sarcasm and irony and vituperation and scorn and spit at the Christian religion. What has the Christian religion done that it should be so assailed? Whom hath it bitten and left with hydrophobiac virus in their veins that it should sometimes be chased as though it were a maddened canine?

To head off and trip up and push down and corner our religion was the dominant thought in the life of David Hume and Voltaire and Shaftesbury and even the Earl of Rochester until one day in a princely house in which they blasphemously put God on trial, and the Earl of Rochester was the attorney against God and religion and received the applause of the whole company, when suddenly the earl was struck under conviction and cried: "Good God, that a man who walks uprightly, who sees the wonderful works of God and has the use of his senses and reason, should use them in defying his Creator! I wish I had been a crawling leper in a ditch rather than have acted toward God as I have done."

Javelin of wit, javelin of irony, javelin of scurrility, javelin of sophistry, javelin of human and diabolic hostility, have been flying for hundreds of years and are flying now. But aimed at what? At something that has come to devastate the world? At something that slays nations? At something that would maul and trample under foot and excruciate and crush the human race? No, aimed at the gospel harp—harp on which prophets played with somewhat lingering and uncertain fingers, but harp on which apostles played with sublime certainty, and martyrs played while their fingers were on fire. Harp that was dripping with the blood of the Christ, out of whose heartstrings the harp was chorded and from whose dying groan the strings were keyed. Oh, gospel harp! All thy nerves a-tremble with stories of self sacrifice. Harp thrummed by fingers long ago turned to dust. Harp that made heaven listen and will yet make all the earth hear. Harp that sounded pardon to my sinful soul and peace over the grave where my dead sleep. Harp that will lead the chant of the blood washed throng redeemed around the throne. May a javelin slay me before I fling a javelin at that. Harp which it seems almost too sacred for me to touch, and so I call down from their thrones those who used to finger it and ask them to touch it now. "Come down, William Cowper, and run your fingers over the strings of this harp." He says, "I will," and he plays:

There is a fountain filled with blood
Drawn from Immanuel's veins.

"Come down, Charles Wesley, and touch the strings." He says, "I will," and he plays:

Jesus, lover of my soul,
Let me to thy bosom fly.

"Come down, Augustus Toplady, and sweep your fingers across this gospel harp." He says, "I will," and he plays:

Rock of Ages, cleft for me,
Let me hide myself in thee.

"Come down, Isaac Watts, and take this harp." He says, "I will," and he plays:

Alas, and did my Saviour bleed,
And did my Sovereign die?

"P. P. Bliss, come down and thrum this gospel harp." He says, "I will," and he plays:

Hallelujah, 'tis done,
I believe on the Son.

Ineffable harp! Transporting harp! Harp of earth! Harp of heaven! Harp saintly and seraphic! Harp of God! Oh, I like the idea of the old monument in the ancient church at Ullard, near Kilkenny, Ireland. The sculpture on that monument, though chiseled more than 1,000 years ago, as appropriate today as then, the sculpture representing a harp upon a cross. That is where I hang it now; that is where you had better hang it. Let the javelin be forever buried, the sharp edge down, but hang the harp upon the cross.

And now upon our souls let the harps of heaven rain music, and as when the sun's rays fall aslant in Switzerland at the approach of eventide, and the shepherd among the Alps puts the horn to his lips and blows a blast and says, "Glory be to God," and all the shepherds on the Alpine heights or down in the deep valleys respond with other blast of horns, saying, "Glory be to God," and then all the shepherds uncover their heads and kneel in worship, and after a few moments of silence some shepherd rises from his knees and blows another blast of the horn and says, "Thanks be to God," and all through the mountains the response comes from other shepherds, "Thanks be to God," so this moment let all the valleys of earth respond to the hills of heaven with sounds of glory and thanks, and it be harp of earthly worship to harp of heavenly worship, and the words of St. John in the Apocalypse be fulfilled, "I heard a voice from heaven as the voice of many waters and as the voice of a great thunder, and I heard the voice of harpers harping with their harps."

INTERIOR INTELLIGENCE.

Excerpts of Interest From the Press of the Great Upper Country.

(Inland Sentinel.)

The Thompson river continues rising steadily, and the old settlers express the opinion that it will be higher than it has been for many years.

On the deep ground "diggins," on Harvey, during the past winter, they have averaged one hundred dollars to the man per month.

The snow has all gone from round here and the water is rising fast in the Quesnelle. The weather is fine, with an occasional rain and thunder storm. On Snoeshoe and Harvey creeks they have nearly five feet of snow yet.

From Kiethley comes word of the discovery of the back channel of that creek by Mr. Martin Anderson. He is having his ground staked off and recorded. Mr. Anderson is an "old timer," and this is the second time he has struck it on the same creek.

Mr. James Champion, civil and mining engineer, has been out this past week with a gang of men in the neighborhood of Little Lakes, locating ground for eastern capitalists. Mr. Champion is confident that he has "the tail end of the South Fork Company's channel."

Mr. James Ross of Shuswap has spent several days in town this week. He reports an excellent prospect for hay, grain and vegetables in the Shuswap valley, and equally so in relation to fruit, which has not been advanced sufficiently to receive injury from frost. The season has been backward, but very propitious weather is now prevailing.

All interest for the present in mining matters at Savona is centered in the Cinnabar claims. Col. Christopher came up from Fairhaven, Wash., a few days ago, representing the parties who have an option on the property, and has put men at work drifting for the ledge, which they expect to strike very soon, and determine the value of the property.

Mr. Frank Harvey has been at Sprague, Wash., for about two months collecting a band of several thousand sheep, which will be brought into British Columbia by way of the Similkameen and Okanagan Valleys and driven thence into this part of the province. Later in the season, when in their prime, they will be slaughtered for supplying the coast markets with superior muttou.

A washcut occurred between Spatzum and Spence's bridge, about 60 miles west of Kamloops, on Wednesday, delaying the trains for some hours. A large staff of men were immediately put to work, and the damage quickly rectified.

George Ruxton, a well-known and respected old settler, died of cancer of the stomach on Tuesday last at the Royal Inland hospital, after an illness extending over six months.

Mr. John G. Meyer, miner and prospector, of Tacoma, about two weeks ago went up the North Thompson to Lewis creek, and thence followed this over the divide to Forest creek and Adams lake. The district appeared so encouraging as a mineral country that he returned to Kamloops to get a better outfit. This procured, he left again with his son and a hired man, taking three horses and a quantity of supplies and material for a long prospect trip. He intends to thoroughly explore the country between North Thompson and Adams, and especially the summit of the mountains both north and south of Lewis creek. He will be in territory hitherto entirely unexplored and is confident of locating some good ledges of mineral. Should he make any discoveries he will proceed to open them up and develop them.

(Kootenay Star.)

W. B. Pool has a gang of men at work clearing Lardeau townsite.

Fifty additional acres of the Nakusp townsite will be cleared at once.

There is a big crowd at Thomson's Landing fitting out for prospecting in the Lardeau mountains.

Mr. Walter Henderson, a surveyor and mining engineer of Quebec, leaves that place to-day for Lardeau, where he will take up his residence.

The Hon. Theo. Davie, Premier of British Columbia, will address a public meeting in Revelstoke with regard to the Parliament Buildings Act and redistribution. The date will be either next week or week after.

The Kootenai left for down river ports yesterday with 11 carloads of railway supplies for Peter Larsen, who has the contract for the Nelson and Fort Sheppard road. On her preceding trip the steamer carried the largest cargo ever taken down river—14 carloads.

Tom Reid, who has been trapping down river, came up in his boat, the Hattie R, under sail. His bag comprised two cariboo, 14 martens, two beavers, one otter and one lynx. The latter has been stuffed and mounted by Mr. Geo. Sheil.

Three American families arrived up on the steamer Kootenai this week. They were from Washington and came in by way of Northport. They brought nine horses and a large stock of implements. Yesterday the Lytton brought up four families from the states of Idaho and Washington. Their horses, implements and household furniture, nearly two carloads, had to be left for the next boat. The party put up at the Columbia House and left to-day for their destination—Edmonton. Five hundred families from the Western States are expected to pass through for the Northwest this season.

The first shipment of ore from the Slocan country this season was brought to Revelstoke by the steamer Kootenai on Thursday morning, and was put on the cars for Tacoma. It was brought out to Nakusp by Hugh Mann from the Vancouver mine, one of the Mahon group of claims on Four Mile creek. There was about 200 tons in sacks, and it is expected to average $200 per ton. The C. P. R. and C. & K. Nav. Co. with their usual far-seeing eye to business, have quoted a special rate for ore from Nakusp to Tacoma of $7 per ton, thus knocking the bottom out of the Kaslo-Bonner's Ferry route. This is only the beginning of what is destined to be—on the completion of the Revelstoke & Arrow Lake and Nakusp & Slocan railways—an immense mineral traffic by Nakusp and Revelstoke to the Tacoma, San Francisco, and, let us hope, Revelstoke smelters.

(The Nelson Tribune.)

From all accounts, Kalso is in much greater need of a board of health than a board of trade.

In putting men on the Toad Mountain road to repair it, Mr. Fitzstubbs took timely action. The road was being badly washed in places.

E. E. Coy, the ever-genial society editor of the Kaslo Examiner, was in Nelson on Monday. In time, Mr. Coy will be no slouch of an all-round newspaper man.

The Dominion Express Company has opened an office at Kaslo and appointed S. H. Green agent. Sam is now postmaster express agent, telephone central manager, and—the handsomest man in the town that tried to steal the South Kootenay Board of Trade.

The prospectors who are on the Upper Duncan River think they should have a commission recorder located at some convenient point. At present they are compelled to travel over 60 miles to Ainsworth, a trip that requires several days, and, at the best, is an expensive one.

As long as John McRae lives mining operations will be carried on on Jubilee mountain, East Kootenay. He is now at work on the Maggie McRae, a copper claim from which a carload of ore was shipped last year to Swansea, Wales. The ore assays from 25 to 65 per cent. copper.

There is no doubt that a rich strike has been made on the Cumberland, Slocan district. The vein shows two feet of solid galena, and an essay has been made giving a return of over 500 ounces silver to the ton. The lucky owners are congratulating themselves on not having bonded the property.

"Jack" Nolan, a native-born Canadian, has been appointed a preventive officer in the customs department of Canada. He will, for the time, be stationed at the mouth of Beaver Creek, a point selected for the headquarters camp of the contractors who are building the Nelson and Fort Sheppard Railway.

A Vancouver concern has built a number of frame buildings and is prepared to establish powder works across the lake from Kaslo. The product will be of the dynamite variety. The new place is called Powderville but it is not yet known whether a real estate craze will take effect there or not.

The Nakusp trail to Slocan Lake is being put in first-class order by road superintendent Cameron. The corduroy bridges are all being made 12 feet wide, and a wagon can be taken almost to the Halfway House even now. Henry Harshaw and G. W. Hughes will both put pack trains on the route. J. D. Walsh is running his saddle train.

Buchanan's sawmill at Kaslo is running night and day in order to get a supply of lumber on hand. Mr. Buchanan says new orders are not coming in as fast now as during March and April, but that he has a number of unfilled orders on hand. If the water in the lake rises so that the mill cannot be run—and it is now within seven feet of the engine-room—enough lumber will be in the yard to keep the planing-mill running full time.

Nelson district has a gold claim called the Whitewater, and it is believed to be a valuable property. Kaslo district has also a claim called the Whitewater, and its owners, T. J. Lendrum and J. C. Eaton, believe they have a bonanza once they get it developed. A tunnel is in on the ledge 20 feet, the face in iron ore carrying galena. The width of the ledge is not known, as it has not been crosscut. The snow in the vicinity is about five feet deep.

James Kane, while boating on the Duncan River, on the 11th instant, picked up a pop bottle in which he found half of an envelope bearing the stamp of Fry's Hotel, Bonner's Ferry, on the corner. On one side of the envelope was the following written in pencil: "Upper Duncan, May 1st.—I am dying for want of provisions. God help me for I am afraid human aid cannot reach me here. Communicate with my relatives. Bishop E. Grove, late of Kaslo."

(Golden Era.)

The heavy rain of the past few days has brought the Columbia and Kicking Horse rivers up considerably.

The sawmill of the Upper Columbia Company, now known as the Golden Sawmill Company, has been doing fine work this week. The average cut is estimated at about 30,000 feet per day.

Messrs. Owen & Cannan, mining brokers, have bonded for a London syndicate several quartz claims in the McMurdo basin, including John Henderson's, Wm. Smith, W. C. Slade and others.

The World's Fair Visitors.

The success which has attended the efforts of the promoters of the World's Columbian exposition will be witnessed by myriads of visitors from Europe, Asia and Africa, from Central and South America, from Australia, from the ends of the continents and from the islands of the seas and oceans. It has been estimated by persons best capable of passing judgment on the subject that the aggregate total attendance will amount to about 30,000,000 people, while railroad men actually put the total at twice that number.

Vast, titanic, has been the work to make preparation for the reception of such immense multitudes, and vaster still for the reception of the thousands and thousands of exhibits displayed. More languages will be spoken there than when the confusion of tongues dispersed the would be builders of a tower up to heaven, and buildings rising higher than that unfinished structure was ever raised by those architects of old strike with admiration and astonishment visitors from the farthest ends of the earth as they wander through the exposition grounds and the great thoroughfares of that city by the lake.—J. J. Peatfield in Californian.

The Training of Egyptian Cats.

"I have always found," said Mrs. Marshall H. Williamson, "that persons who do not like animals are people who have objectionable characteristics. People who treat animals with anything but human kindness are, so far as my observation goes, not people with whom it is safe to trust very much of one's happiness. It really is surprising how much can be taught some animals and how human they become when they are humanely treated. The cat is generally supposed to be sly rather than intelligent, but see what the Egyptians succeeded in doing with them. The Persian cats and horses were introduced into Egypt about the same time, and the Egyptians, who excelled in training the intelligence of animals, taught the cats to fish and retrieve and also to take the place of dogs in the chase, indeed they preferred them to dogs. This was how they came to be regarded as sacred. You see, they made them so useful."—Chicago Herald.

One Great Benefit.

Not the least of the benefits likely to flow from the World's fair will be in the way of educating foreigners in regard to the true status of this country and disabusing their minds of crude and erroneous ideas in regard to its progress and development. It is well known that many intelligent foreigners—in fact the most—have very erroneous ideas on these points, imagining that that civilization in the United States is confined to the suburbs of New York, and that the interior of the country is not far removed from a wilderness.—Indianapolis Journal.

ARNPRIOR NEWS.

A LADY'S LETTER.

She Speaks Enthusiastically.

ONCE IN THE QUICKSANDS!

Now Safe and Out of Danger.

A WARNING TO THOUSANDS!

In our Canadian cities and towns suffering, agony and sickness are hidden from public view; none but the sufferers and their friends know of the intense pain endured, and the long weary hours and sleepless nights that make life a misery on earth. In the midst of this extended field of suffering and disease the majority of physicians work honestly, but, too often in vain. Those of our Canadian physicians who have broken down the barriers of professional etiquette and form, in order to save lives, have met with success. The medical men who have prescribed Paine's Celery Compound for rheumatism, neuralgia, nervous affections, sleeplessness, liver and kidney troubles, have obtained the grandest results for their patients.

Mrs. Eliza Page, of Arnprior, Ont., was strongly advised to use Paine's Celery Compound while she was suffering terribly; she, like thousands of others had failed with the ordinary medicines of the day. Mark well what a work was done for by nature's remedy. She says:

"I have been for many years a great sufferer from rheumatism and a complication of other troubles. About a year ago I was prevailed upon to try a course of Paine's Celery Compound, with a result so marvellous that my most intimate friends and neighbors could scarcely believe me to be the same woman. Formerly I could only move about with the greatest caution, now I am well and active and my general health is good. I believe Paine's Celery Compound will do all that is claimed for it."

Sufferer, are you willing to trust your life to the common medicines of the day, which have no record with our people; or will you take that grand medical prescription, Paine's Celery Compound, which has the approval of medical experts, and which has drawn so many honest Canadian testimonials?

Doctors and Clergymen.

The deaths of several well-known medical practitioners lately at ages but little beyond the middle period of life have given a shock to a good many of their professional brethren. And no wonder! One of the first things a doctor naturally aims at is the preservation of his own health and life. If he cannot keep himself alive and well the prospect is certainly not encouraging for his patients. It is commonly believed that doctors are a short-lived class. Is the popular belief well founded? It is only too well founded. In his "Vital Statistics," Dr. Arthur Newsholme informs us that of every 1000 clergymen between the ages of 45 and 63 only 15.94 die annually. But of every 1000 doctors between the ages of 45 and 65 no fewer than 23.03 die every year. That is to say, the mortality of medical men is almost double that of clergymen. And the rate is increasing. Twenty years ago it was only 24 instead of 28.

These are facts to make us pause. They seem to throw an ugly doubt upon the competency of our professional skill. It may perhaps be argued that clergymen are financially more prosperous than medical men, but that would be quite fallacious, because Dr. Newsholme includes in his clerical class the ministers of all the non-conforming denominations, and, class for class, there is no doubt that medical men are much better off than the body of clergymen as thus constituted. What is the reason then for this portentous death-roll? It is to be found in the arduous nature of the doctor's daily work. But then the doctor knows he arduousness of his work, and if he had faith in physiology he would counteract the effect of that arduousness by more holidays, and by combining with his fellow doctors to diminish the killing strain. This is a matter which is generally talked about and then dropped.—London Hospital.

Big Crowds Coming to the City for Victoria's Annual Celebration.

INTERESTING PROGRAMME PREPARED

Everything in Readiness for the Various Events—The Glass Promises Fine Weather, for a Few Days, at Least—Many Visitors Already Here.

It looked very blue for the celebration early this morning when the rain commenced to pour down, but all the time the mercury was travelling upwards, promising fine weather. Before noon the sun was shining brightly, and aided by a westerly wind soon dried up the mud. Now everybody is in good spirits, the best of weather being prophesied by those who claim to know all about it.

Everything is in readiness for Victoria's annual holiday. The programme is complete, and all that is now left to do is to carry it out, which will be successfully done if those who are handling the affair will continue to work as they have commenced.

Many visitors anxious to be here early and secure comfortable accommodation came over from the Sound and the mainland, and a few have already arrived from up the line of the E. & N. railway. But the first big crowd will be here to-night. The steamer City of Kingston, looking her very best after the cleaning and repairing she received at Tacoma, is making a special trip and will arrive between 4 and 5 o'clock. She will bring the first party of citizens of the Sound, the second crowd coming by the same boat on Tuesday.

The residents of the Bellingham Bay cities will also be here in force. The steamer Schome will make at least one if not two trips between Victoria and the Bay. The first one will be made to-morrow and the second one Wednesday.

The Angeles people are almost as enthusiastic over the celebration as the Victorians. A steamer will leave that city at 7 o'clock on Wednesday morning, returning at 12 o'clock at night, giving the excursionists an opportunity to remain here all day. The Port Angeles Tribune, speaking of the celebration, says: "Next Wednesday is the anniversary of Queen Victoria's birthday. The people of Victoria always celebrate that day. This year the people of Port Angeles should make up a big excursion and visit Victoria on the 24th. It would be a friendly return of the compliment of the visit of the people of Victoria made to this city last 4th of July."

The New Westminster and Fraser river contingent, and probably many Vancouver and other mainland ports, will be here bright and early to-morrow morning on the steamer R. P. Rithet. Among them will be the lacrosse team and the cricketers. Other Vancouverites will come down on the Yosemite to-morrow evening, while those who can spare only time enough to be here on Wednesday will leave Vancouver at 6 o'clock in the morning on the steamer Islander and return the same evening. There will be other excursions from different ports as usual. The E. & N. railway are going to run special trains to accommodate the people of Nanaimo, Wellington and intermediate stations.

Fully as many people will be here as on former occasions, and Victorians will, of course, do their best to entertain them.

Every flag and piece of bunting in the city should be brought out. The celebration committee are doing their share of the decorating. The James' Bay and swing bridges are to be covered with decorations, and the government grounds will be similarly treated. At the gorge there will be the usual embellishments.

The official programmes were issued this morning. They were very neatly printed with a lithographed cover and will make pretty souvenirs of the celebration. The programme follows:

YACHTING.

VISITORS FROM WHATCOM.

Whatcom, May 22.—Six yachts and a number of aquatic enthusiasts left yesterday for Victoria. Only three of the yachts, however, will participate in the regatta:—

The Wanda, of Fairhaven, owned by Bloomfield and Biesdorf, with a crew comprised of Capt. McKay, C. M. Hunter, O. C. Garland, C. Dickinson, T. W. Moore and M. Bloomfield, with V. S. Gifford and Harry George as passengers.

The Hornet, of Whatcom, owned by R. Simpson, carrying Lew Mayhew in charge, Sanford Mayhew, M. K. Alexander, P. S. Battersley, Wilfrid Lowrie and the owner.

Commodore Leaming's fine new yacht, the Myth, with himself in command, accompanied by J. R. McKinley, A. J. Welpert, Cecil Bacon and several others.

The sloop Nellie, of Whatcom, is sailed by the owner, George A. Jenkins, and the Reveille, also of Whatcom, by McKenzie and Brown. The J. J. Hill, of Fairhaven, H. L. Merrill's new sloop, carries him and City Clerk F. H. Anderson and Max Kunes, treasurer of the Fairhaven club. The yachtsmen confidently expect that one or more of the prizes will be secured by the bay favorites.

THE VICTORIAS WON.

Victoria can thank Barff, Goward and Holt for winning Saturday's game from Tacoma, for their batting saved the day. The Tacomas' fielded well, but their bowling and batting was poor.

BASEBALL.

VICTORIAS AND SHAMROCKS.

The match game that took place on the Hill on Saturday between the Victoria B.B. Club and the Shamrocks proved a very interesting game. There were upwards of 500 spectators witnessed the match, which was spiritedly contested. The Victorias, having defeated the V.A.C. B.B. Club two weeks ago, worked hard to retain their laurels, but the recently organized Shamrocks proved too strong. The Victorias are not satisfied with their defeat, and a return match may be looked for shortly. Following is the score:—

Shamrocks	10 runs
Victoria	8 runs

"Shorter" Pastry
And
"Shorter" Bills.
We are talking about a "shortening" which will not cause indigestion. Those who "know a thing or two" about Cooking (Marion Harland among a lot of others) are using
COTTOLENE
instead of lard. None but the purest, healthiest and cleanest ingredients go to make up Cottolene. Lard isn't healthy, and is not always clean. Those who use Cottolene will be healthier and wealthier than those who use lard—Healthier, because they will get "shorter" bread; wealthier because they will get "shorter" grocery bills—for Cottolene costs no more than lard and goes twice as far—so is but half as expensive.

NAKUSP
SLOCAN MINES
The Eldorado of British Columbia.
All the ore output now assured to Nakusp by the immediate construction of the NAKUSP & SLOCAN RAILWAY, which will start at Nakusp and end at the Forks of Carpenter Creek, directly in the centre of the Slocan Mines.
No Other Route can Possibly Compete
Thirty-five miles of Railway from Nakusp will tap the whole of the Mines of the Slocan District, and the ores are bound to come out BY THE NATURAL GATEWAY, VIA NAKUSP, to the general welfare and prosperity of the Province.
Look at the Map.
A Provincial Railway Charter and subsidy and a Dominion Railway Charter have been obtained for the Nakusp & Slocan Railway, and the Canadian Pacific Co. have entered into an agreement to lease and operate the Railway for 25 years. There can be no doubt as to the importance of NAKUSP, the Gateway of the Slocan Country, either from the North or South, and the principal shipping and distributing point for all the district tributary to Slocan Lake.
Concentrators and Samplers
Now in contemplation, consequent on the definite settlement of the Railway question. The Nakusp & Slocan Railway will be built with a rush right into the heart of the Mines. See Wardner's and other experts' estimates of the production of Slocan Mines in the press. All this now assured is directly tributary to the Nakusp & Slocan Railway.
